SIU tuition hike proposed

Tuition rate increases of approximately five percent have been proposed for the Southern Illinois University System. The SIU Board of Trustees received the proposal Thursday and will consider the matter for action at the March 14 meeting of the Board in Springfield.

The Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE), at its meeting on Jan. 8, formally recommended a general five percent increase in tuition at public universities for fiscal year 1986, which begins July 1. IBHE staff said the recommended increase would be commensurate with cost-of-living indexes and would provide about $9 million of a total proposed increase of about $97.8 million for public universities.

THE CURRENT academic year tuition rates, recommended increases, and proposed FY-86 rates for full-time resident students are:

SIU AT EDWARDSVILLE
Undergraduate, $939.45; $46.95, and $986.40.
Graduate, $1,006.50; $50.40, and $1,056.90.
Dental, $1,948; $93, and $1,941.

SIU AT CARBONDALE
Undergraduate and Graduate, $934; $54, and $1,008.
Law, $1,128; $60, and $1,188.

Medicine, $3,963; $198, and $4,161.

Since Fiscal Year 1972, tuition and required fees at SIUE and SIUC have increased by 118.9 percent and 148.2 percent, respectively, as compared to the 156.2 percent increase in the Consumer Price Index for the same period.

SIU OFFICERS said a review of tuition increase possibilities leaves no really desirable alternative. They explained that IBHE budget formulation policies mandate a tuition increase derived from cost-of-living indexes, and persistent inflation requires persistent tuition increases in the IBHE budget recommendations.

Talks with Teamsters resume

Negotiations between the Madison County Board's negotiating committee and Teamsters Local 525, representing employees of the county's highway and animal control departments, are expected to resume Tuesday and the Madison County Board is expected to make some decisions related to the negotiations Wednesday.

Last week, the Teamsters overwhelmingly rejected the county's final contract offer, which was proposed last Monday. The union made a counterproposal nearly identical to the county's offer, according to Business Representative Chris Zahn.

THE UNION'S new proposal is for a three-year contract with a 10-cent raise in the first year and 34-cent raises in each of the next two years, Zahn said.

In return, the union will drop its demands that the county continue to pay the full amount for each member's health insurance package.

The county is offering salary increases totaling 72 cents over the final two years of the contract, with no increase in the first year. However, the county does not wish to pay more than the current health insurance premium rate of $39.50 per month and premiums are expected to increase in the near future.

Madison Auto Parts fire damage exceeds $500,000

Madison firefighters fought a blaze for nearly five hours Saturday at Madison Auto Parts and Garage, 1020 Madison Ave. Damage to the building and contents has been estimated between a half million and three-quarters of a million dollars.

Although the garage and auto parts store were open, none of the employees was injured. According to Madison Fire Chief Mike Macek, the owner of the building, Glen Curtis, cleared persons from the building before things became serious.

A MADISON firefighter was not as fortunate, however, as he fell through a weak section of the roof. Jeff Niehaus, 21, of 1115 McCambridge Ave., was listed in good condition at St. Elizabeth Medical Center this morning. His injuries include a severe cut to his right hand.

Macek said there were three persons on the roof when the injury occurred, including himself. "We were ventilating one area of the roof and Jeff was about 10 feet from me," he said. "Jeff said he would bring me an axe and the next thing I knew he went through."

According to Macek, after Niehaus fell through to the ground, he called for help, since he was in the middle of the fire. Fireman Otis Hollenbeck, who was inside the building, and Macek immediately sprayed him with water. Hollenbeck told Niehaus to follow the water coming from his hose and Niehaus was able to make his way to Hollenbeck unassisted.

MACEK SAID THE weak area must have been small because his footing remained firm. Although the amount of damage done is large in dollars, Macek said the major portion of the fire was contained to the machine shop, which is located in the northeast section of the building.

Macek said that the building is divided into seven sections, although it appears to be one structure. Some sections other than machine shop received serious smoke damage and minor fire damage.

ACCORDING TO THE chief, this damage may have been caused because some of the fire doors were not closed and there were some holes in the walls.

The source of the fire may have been some gas fumes which were ignited by a pilot light from a piece of equipment in the machine shop. According to Macek, the suspect piece of equipment is used to repair gasoline tanks.

Macek said about 20 men from the Madison Fire Department worked to put out the fire. "It wouldn't have made a big difference if we had a lot more men out there, because the fire was contained," he said. "It was just a matter of being able to get to the fire, so we could put it out."

Alarm sale 'too successful'

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

How successful was the city's smoke alarm program? Very.

"We ran out of smoke detectors, but will have more available on Thursday," Granite City Fire Chief Don Parente said Friday. Notices to that effect are posted on the doors at the main fire station at 23rd Street and Madison Avenue.

The community awareness "Get Alarmed" program, which is geared to making people more aware of the greater personal safety that smoke detectors provide, apparently provided too successful as 625 alarms were distributed in record time on the first day of the project.

THE GRANITE CITY Fire Department had 500 smoke detectors ready for distribution Friday and they were gone before early afternoon, it was learned.

An additional 125 alarm units, all that were immediately available, were picked up in St. Louis to replenish the original supply, but they didn't last too long either, Parente said.

First announced by Mayor Paul Schuler in Thursday's Press-

Record, the "Get Alarmed" project is designed to make top quality smoke alarms available to every household in Granite City at the low cost of $7 each, he said.

SENIOR CITIZENS and other eligible residents in the community may be entitled to a free smoke alarm, as part of the not-for-profit project, the mayor said.

Free smoke detectors will be made available to persons whose annual income meets a graduated scale, starting at $15,450 or less for an individual, and ranging up to a (Continued on Page 5)

Vasileff asks the court to keep his name on the ballot in Venice

Nick D. Vasileff, candidate for supervisor of Venice Township, is protesting a ruling of the township's electoral board removing his name from the April 2 ballot.

Vasileff filed a petition in Madison County Circuit Court Thursday asking that his name remain on the ballot and a court hearing be conducted to determine if his candidate petitions are valid.

THE ELECTORAL board compared signatures on Vasileff's petitions with the signatures on voter registration records in the office of Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles and ruled that at least four signatures had been forged and others were not registered to vote in Venice Township. The board contended that the petitions contain only 160 valid signatures, while 179 were required to be placed on the ballot.

Vasileff, a former Venice

Township attorney, protested that the members of the electoral board are not qualified handwriting experts and, thus, may not legally determine whether the signatures are real or forged.

He contends the petitions carry an adequate number of signatures of registered voters to qualify him as a candidate.

THE COURT will set a date for a hearing on Vasileff's petition.

30-YEAR TRADITION. Kyle Hensley, son of Richard and Phyllis Hensley, takes a ride on the mechanical horse Friday as his mother and grandmother, Beverly Benoit, shop at Glik's Department Store in the Bellemore Village Shopping Center. Glik's reopened Friday after being closed for seven weeks as a result of the Dec. 26 fire at the shopping center. The horse has been a part of the Glik stores here for more than 30 years and children will be given free rides at the store this week. Kyle will be 3 years old on Thursday.

Simon profile--Senator intends to serve this area actively

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Winner of 26 elections, Paul Simon also knows what it is to lose. Appreciative of his Nov. 6 victory over U.S. Sen. Charles Percy, the former local state legislator has made it clear he intends to serve his constituents actively, here and throughout the state.

Asked by a member of the audience Feb. 8 whether he was required to schedule "town meetings" like the one then in progress, Sen. Simon told the more than 1,000 citizens present that such sessions are not mandatory—but that he wants to conduct them "because I need to know what's on your mind. If people feel strongly about an issue, I want to know about it."

"AWARE THAT ILLINOIS is a vast state, the former lieutenant governor and congressman nevertheless hopes to serve it as earnestly and thoroughly as he did the 24th (now 2nd) Congressional District.

His travels last week included

Springfield and Chicago on Monday, Chicago and Springfield on Tuesday, and Peoria, Galesburg and Rock Island Wednesday.

Thursday he was in Moline, S. Erling Rockford and Chicago. Friday he went to Springfield and Decatur before returning to Washington, D.C.

A YOUNG 56, Simon seems to have the vigor and incentive to maintain this kind of non-stop activity indefinitely. It is not really campaigning—his Senate term does not end until January 1991—but rather his way of defining and performing his duties.

Well known here and in the entire Downstate area, Simon devoted much of his 1984 campaigning to the crucial Chicago area, where he got energetic backing from both a major political faction, led by Mayor Harold Washington and Alderman Edward Vrdolyak.

For the record—with the help of the Illinois Blue Book, this state's official publication—here is a thumbnail description of the veteran Democratic officeholder:

—BORN NOV. 29, 1928, in Eugene, Ore. Educated University of Oregon and Dana College in Nebraska. At 19, became nation's youngest editor and publisher when he purchased the Troy, Ill., Tribune; acquired 14 Downstate newspapers which he sold in 1966.

—Elected to the Illinois House in 1954-56-58-60 and to the Illinois Senate (for four-year terms) in 1962-66. During his 14 years in the General Assembly, he won the Independent Voters of Illinois "Best Legislator" award seven times.

—Elected lieutenant governor in 1968, serving simultaneously with a Republican governor, Richard Ogilvie, in an era when the two offices were decided separately.

—ILLINOIS UNOFFICIAL "ombudsman" in 1968-72. Simon answered 50,000 citizen requests. Although endorsed for governor by the Illinois Democratic Central Committee and Chicago leaders, lost the 1972 primary to Dan Walker, who then defeated Ogilvie for governor.

—Elected to the U.S. House of Representatives (as a resident of Carbondale and then Makanda) in 1974-76-78-80-82.

Holds many honorary degrees. Author of nine books, including Lovejoy-Martyr to Freedom, Lincoln's Preparation for Greatness, The Politics of World Hunger and the newly-published Glass House, which spotlights Washington political morality.

—TAUGHT AT SANGAMON State University, Springfield, 1973-74. Lectured at the John F. Kennedy Institute of Politics at Harvard University, 1973.

—Married to the former Jeanne Hurley, whom he met while both were serving as state representatives, forming the first husband-wife team in Illinois legislative history. Parents of Sheila and Martin.

Although his 26-1 winning record (counting primaries and general elections) is impressive, he did not easily achieve the long-cherished U.S. Senate seat once held by one of his heroes, Paul Douglas.

SIMON WON DECISIVELY in the Democratic primary last March but, despite the big margin, the field he overcame was formidable from every standpoint.

His ballot foes in 1984 were Alex Seith, an attorney who had come close to defeating the incumbent, Sen. Charles Percy, in the general election six years ago; Illinois Senate President Philip Rock, who had the party's statewide, Chicago and Cook County endorsements; and State Comptroller Roland Burris, an accomplished vote-getter who has just been elected 1985-86 vice chairman of the National Democratic Party.

The general election campaign in which Simon defeated millionaire Percy proved to be one of the most expensive ever. Among other obstacles, Simon had to battle a big tide of Republican support generated by the strong second-term candidacy of President Ronald Reagan.

CONTRIBUTING TO HIS political success is a razor-sharp memory for faces and names, a gift Simon demonstrated again at the packed town meeting last night at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

He stayed near the door to greet those arriving, and seemed able to recognize nearly everyone despite the fact that he had not seen many of those attending for a number of years.

Admitting he may be a "big spender" on education and programs for senior citizens, Simon told the group of his successful opposition to the "race track" plan in which missiles were to be moved about the countryside in the hope of confusing a potential enemy.

SECOND COSTLIEST project in the history of mankind, topped only by the Interstate highway system, the track proposal would have cost immense sums without actually improving the U.S. defense posture, the senator asserted.

On the same grounds, cost and ineffectiveness, Simon said he will fight the "star wars" anti-missile proposal. Estimates place its cost at more than a trillion dollars, he added, telling the gathering that Uncle Sam needs more emphasis on conventional forces and less on nuclear bombs.

Longtime chairman of the U.S. House higher education subcommittee, Simon answered questions on varied topics, including the landmark special education law that he helped sponsor.

TOP PRIORITY must be given to reducing the national debt and the yearly budget deficit, instead of "living on a huge credit card," he said. "But we must not forget people who need help, or ignore disabled veterans, or discourage young people who want to attend this university," he said whether lawmakers have the courage to trim the deficit will be evident within the next 90 days.

Federal programs "are going to have to have some things squeezed out of them" due to fiscal realities, including cuts in current farm subsidies, he said.

With the dollar overvalued compared to foreign currencies, exports are hampered and imports are encouraged, Simon noted. Although he favors free trade, instances of unfair trade practices by foreign countries should get quick U.S. governmental attention, he added.

ALTHOUGH HIS VIEWS and votes will get more attention as one of 100 senators instead of one of more than 400 congressmen, Simon already has gained considerable national acclaim based on his leadership on world hunger issues and his attempts to expand foreign language training in American schools.

Also garnering a spotlight in the past was his chief sponsorship of legislation to aid in finding missing children.

While in Congress, he obtained more Urban Development Action Grants for his district than any other in the nation.

AMONG HIS SENATE assignments will be the Labor and Human Resources Committee, which deals with education. He stressed at the town meeting the importance of accelerated action to end adult illiteracy.

"We're the only country where you can go through grade school, high school and college and get a Ph.D. without learning another language," he continued. "But if you want to sell, you'd better know your customer's language."

Granite City and the nation have developed too much dependence on heavy industries like steel, which due to technology may never match the large job base they once provided, Sen. Simon said.

He remarked that Illinois has lost one-fourth of its industrial jobs in the last five years, a greater percentage than in any state except Pennsylvania, and said the solution is retraining and a more diverse economic base.

SIMON WILL OPPOSE tax "loopholes" of the kind that resulted in mammoth General Electric Co. paying less income taxes in the last three years than "the man who will sweep us this room tonight." He is against a value-added tax "because it does not tax people according to their ability to pay."

Simon said at SIUE that the tax exemption on municipal bonds mainly benefits wealthy people and should be revised to help achieve a more adequate volume of tax revenue. He said the student loan program would not have to be reduced much if the U.S. did a better job of collecting past loans.

The senator attacked Pentagon weapon buying when it resembles "children in a toy store," and said military retirement should be extended after 25 or 30 years of service instead of 20 years.

HE ALSO CALLED for federal pension levels to be cut back for those entering public service after Jan. 1, 1986.

Responding to questions in a way that showed he was well informed on all the issues that were raised, Simon indicated his mind is not closed to valid points on both sides.

Many apparently divisive issues are complex; they can be resolved at least to the partial satisfaction of all constituents—he is convinced—through greater understanding and occasionally an innovative approach.

Horse and mule day set

The Illinois Draft Horse and Mule Day will be held Thursday, Feb. 21, in the Illinois state fairgrounds at Springfield from 9 a.m. to 4:15 p.m.

The program will be of interest to anyone interested in the care, breeding, evaluation in use of draft horses or mules.

The first speaker in the program will be Ted Luck, U of I veterinarian, discussing breeding management of the draft mare. This presentation will be followed by a presentation on forage quality evaluation as a basis for draft horse and mule rations.

The afternoon program begins with a presentation on advantages and qualities of mule draft horses. The speaker will be Dr. Melvin Bradley, state horse and mule specialist, from the University of Missouri. He will also discuss the history of the Missouri mule.

Bill McGrew, McGrew's Greenleaf Belgian farm, will cover showing the draft horse at halter. This will be followed by the description, history and evaluation of draft ponies plus fitting harness and driving the farm team.

The registration fee for the program is $3 per adult and $3 per youth. To register, send your registration fee to Kevin Kline, 105 Stock Pavilion, 1402 W. Pennsylvania Avenue, Urbana, Ill. 61891. I would like to remind Madison County farmers of the Soil Fertility meeting scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the Extension office, 900 Hillsboro, Edwardsville.

Bob Hoeft, U of I extension soil fertility specialist, will be the speaker for the program. Hoeft will discuss if you can cut fertilizer usage on row crops in 1985 without reducing crop yields. He will cover the effect of tillage systems in the distribution of fertilizer in the soil and how effective is fertilizer in reduced tillage situations.

For additional information on the Soil Fertility meeting, contact the Madison County Extension office.

Local Eagles attend District 7 meeting

The February meeting of Illinois District 7 Fraternal Order of Eagles was hosted by Wood River Aerie 2773 with John Piper, director (Wood River and Granite Aeries), presiding over his first session as new director.

The meeting opened with the members reciting the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag led by conductor Jim Whirlidge (Shiloh Aerie 645), who also gave the presentation of the Bible and Eagle Emblem.

Opening prayer was given by Harold R. Love (Granite City Aerie 1126), chaplain, and reports were submitted by Carl Buehler (Granite), secretary, Ellis Wiseman (Shiloh), treasurer, and Virgil Gibson (Collinsville Aerie 1051).

Piper introduced Bob Stanton as this year's Illinois P.O.E. state trustee and Carl Buehler as last year's Illinois Eagle of the Year.

He then introduced Wood River President Ray Zimmerman to give the welcoming remarks to give the visiting district members for attending and invited them to stop and visit the Wood River club whenever they were in the area. Zimmerman added that the Wood River Auxiliary had prepared a meal to be enjoyed by all, following the meeting.

The roll call of officers was given by Carl Buehler with the assistance of Jim Whirlidge. Those responding and their office were: Bob Stanton (Granite) - past director, John Piper (Wood River and Granite) - director, Guido Gasperin (Collinsville) - vice president, Harold Love (Granite) - chaplain, Jim Whirlidge (Shiloh and Granite) - conductor, Neal Haida (Belleville Aerie 743) - problem Bill Lepping (Alton 254) - inside guard, Carl Buehler (Granite) - secretary, Ellis Wiseman (Shiloh) - treasurer, Virgil Gibson (Collinsville) and Fritz McFarth (Shiloh) trustees.

Carl Buehler announced that the Belleville Aerie had topped the Granite City Aerie 66 and 13 points in regards to the point system for district meeting attendance.

It was also announced that there was one candidate each from the Collinsville and Wood River Aeries waiting for initiation into the Eagles. New members were Tim Gibson (Collinsville) and Keith Moore (Wood River).

Members of the initiating (ritual) team were: past director Bob Stanton (Granite), director Ellis Wiseman (Shiloh), past president Bill Henken (Granite), chaplain Harold Love (Granite), conductor Jim Whirlidge (Shiloh), and inside guard Bill Lepping (Alton).

Piper announced that the Alton Aerie would host the district meeting in March and that the district session in April will be at the Collinsville Aerie.

Director Piper adjourned the meeting following the closing ceremony by Harold Love, Bob Stanton and Guido Gasperin.

Seedling sale ends March 31

The Department of Conservation's annual seedling sales program comes to an end March 31, according to Allan S. Mickelson, chief of the Division of Forest Resources and Natural Heritage. The seedling trees and shrubs are used for conservation plantings throughout the state to provide wildlife habitat, control soil erosion, create windbreaks, and to grow forest products.

"We begin accepting orders in the fall and the seedlings are shipped in the spring for planting at that time," said Mickelson. "We process about 4,000 orders and sell out of several species annually." Mickelson pointed out, "Landowners who want to purchase trees need to get their orders in as soon as possible," he said.

Price lists and order forms, as well as technical assistance, are available through local department of Conservation and agriculture offices or by writing or calling: Department of Conservation, Division of Forest Resources and Natural Heritage, 504 S. Second St., Springfield, Ill. 62766, or phone: 217-782-2361.

Current inventory information on species is available at 1-877-785-5177. Seedlings from the state nurseries, by law, cannot be used for landscape, ornamental or shade tree purposes. "People who want to plant trees for these purposes should contact their local commercial nurseries or other private sources," recommended Mickelson.

Quilters are sought

Belleville Area College Retired Senior Volunteer Program is seeking volunteers to quilt one day a week, at the RSVP office, located at 22nd and Iowa streets (Old McKinley School). The quilting group will meet every Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Knowledge of quilting is required.

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program is a service provided to retired people, 60 years of age or older, to remain active in their community through meaningful volunteer opportunities in public and not-for-profit agencies and organizations.

Any one interested in quilting or other volunteer positions may call Myrna Kesterson at the RSVP office at 876-3223 from 8:30 to 4:30 Monday through Friday.

3 charged in arrest

Three Madison men were arrested last week after Venice police stopped the vehicle they were in and allegedly found two unopened cans of beer, a half-full pint of whiskey and a brown envelope containing three cannabis cigarettes. The arrest took place on Route 3 in Venice.

Those charged were: Carl McMorris, 21, of 1129 Logan St., Madison, John D. Chatman, 21, of Douglas St., Madison, and Richard E. Williams, 30, of 107 Garesche Homes, Madison.

All three were charged with unlawful possession of cannabis. In addition, McMorris and Chatman were charged with illegal possession of alcohol, and Williams was charged with illegal transportation of alcohol.

WOMAN ARRESTED AFTER BINGO PLAYED THWARTED

Mildred Inez Walker, 61, of 2938 Morgan Ave., was arrested last week at the Granite City Bingo Center in Namesville Village Shopping Center and was charged with assault, after she allegedly threatened another woman playing bingo.

According to police, Mrs. Walker sat down at a table that was already occupied by another woman and her family. When Mrs. Walker was asked to leave, she allegedly became abusive, threw a stack of bingo cards at the other woman and at one point, picked up a chair and started swinging it at the other woman. She was released on $52 cash bail.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

A 1982 Chevrolet, stolen last week from Hugh R. Jordan of 908 Iowa St., Madison, was recovered at 7:35 a.m. Friday in East St. Louis. The steering column lock had been punched out.

Group representing counties joins in asbestos lawsuits

The National Association of Counties has filed a $635 million damage claim on behalf of its member counties to recoup expenses for removing or covering cancer-causing asbestos manufactured by the Johns-Manville Corp.

The association, which represents approximately 2,000 counties, also has filed to extend the Jan. 31 deadline for making claims, asserting that the corporation failed to contact counties or the Association to inform them of the deadline.

"Johns-Manville purposefully chose to rely on general published notice that was calculated to avoid alerting a large segment of potentially interested property damage claimants to the filing date," NACO's motion claimed.

"Tens of thousands of county owned and operated buildings throughout the United States could be involved in this case," said Matthew B. Coffey, NACO executive director.

"Counties operate courthouses, libraries, recreation centers, firehouses, police stations, administration buildings and many others. Some also operate stadiums and arenas used by a great percentage of the general public," he continued.

In its initial survey of counties across the country, the association learned that Passaic County, N.J. has already spent $938,000 to correct asbestos contamination problems.

Harris County, Texas, while still undergoing building inspection to assess damages, has already determined $1 million in damages exists, including $750,000 in the Houston Astro dome complex.

Los Angeles County, Calif., has reported $50 million in damages. In Siskiyou County, Calif., both the county's courthouse and hospital are known to be contaminated by asbestos.

Winnebago County, Ill., has expenditures totaling $402,744 and Mendocino County, N.C., has spent $250,000 to correct asbestos.

HONOR STUDENT OMITTED

Donna Haug, a senior at Granite City High School, was named to the honor roll at the school for her academic achievements during the fall semester. Her name was accidentally omitted from the story carried in this week's school honors in Thursday's Press-Record.

CRIMINAL DAMAGE CHARGED

Larry J. Bochantin, 23, was arrested at 916 Greenwood St., Madison, last week and charged with criminal damage to property, after a complaint was signed by the resident of the property. According to the owner, Bochantin was breaking windows in the rear of the residence.

problems.

Based on initial information received, NACO Counsel Lee Luck estimates the problem to be in excess of $653 million, and that it will take approximately 15 years to correct.

The association's papers, filed Jan. 30 and 31 in U.S. Bankruptcy Court in New York, were in response to a deadline set last July by the court for all asbestos-related property damage claims against Johns-Manville, once the nation's largest asbestos-maker.

Johns-Manville filed for protection under Chapter 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy code in August 1982, when it already faced 16,500 suits from individuals claiming to suffer from asbestos-related diseases.

When it initially learned of the impending deadline this month, the association quickly surveyed members and discovered that counties across the country claimed not to have been notified of the deadline but were very concerned about the problem.

Many indicated they owned or operated structures containing asbestos materials in ceilings, on pipes and boilers, in structural steel or in floors.

No decision is expected on the motions until late February.

Saluting Scouting's 75th year

"Be prepared." "Do a good turn daily." Those are the motto and slogan of the Boy Scouts of America, now 4.7 million Scouts strong.

The Boy Scouts are celebrating their 75th anniversary this year and we salute everyone involved, from the Scouts to the adult volunteers to the professional staff. The movement was incorporated Feb. 8, 1910, and granted a charter by Congress June 15, 1916. The president of the United States serves as honorary president.

Baron Robert Baden-Powell, hero of the siege of Mafeking in 1900, first proposed the idea. He organized the South African constabulary and the first handbook of his English Boy Scouts was patterned after the constabulary handbook. His sister, Agnes Baden-Powell, organized the Girl Guides, which later became the Girl Scouts of America.

The national organization owns Philmont Ranch in New Mexico and wilderness camps in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Maine and Florida. The national Jamboree every four years draws thousands of Scouts.

In this area, the Cahokia Mound Council serves 2,145 Cub Scouts, 1,408 Boy Scouts and 94 Explorer Scouts with 1,240 adult leaders. Nearly all of the leaders are unpaid volunteers.

The council has three districts—Univille, serving Granite City, Madison and Venice; Illini, serving Edwardsville, Collinsville and Troy; and Kickapoo, serving the eastern end of Madison County and Bond County. The Council owns Camp Surmen, near Potosi, Mo.

Scouting exposes the participants to several important concepts, among them responsibility and achievement. Through merit badges, pins and other rewards, the boys are led through increasing steps of growth and responsibility toward the ultimate in Scouting, the achievement of Eagle Scout ranking.

In the process, they are exposed to life-saving skills, swimming proficiency, boating safety and numerous other skills which can help them and those around them enjoy safer lives and more enjoyable recreational activities.

It is fitting to salute the Boy Scouts of America on their 75th anniversary.

(Portions of this editorial were based upon research done by the Collinsville Herald.)

Keeping promises is important

It is unfortunate, but there are two types of newsmen in America, those who can be trusted and those who cannot. Those who cannot be trusted give a name to all newsmen, at a time when the public's confidence in the media is at an all time low.

In Washington, D.C., it has been routine for the federal budget to be distributed to reporters on a Saturday, so they can study it and prepare their stories in advance for release the following Monday. The budget is embargoed until Monday.

Legitimate reporters understand this and appreciate the courtesy. Understanding of a lengthy budget and its implications is not something that cannot be achieved in five minutes.

Still, year after year, on one pretext or another the embargo is broken by anxious reporters attempting to "scoop" their competition. It happened again this year.

Such action, breaking the trust of federal officials, slings mud on the reputation of all legitimate newsmen and endangers the continuation of such courtesies to newsmen in the future.

It would be a reasonable reaction of the federal government to deny advance copies of the budget to reporters, in light of the violation of the embargo in past years. Who would suffer? The general public, which would receive hastily-prepared and unresearched reporting and analysis from a news media which had just seen the budget for the first time and was rushing to get it on the air in the newspapers.

It is a touchy area. We do not believe reporters should be denied their constitutional right to print the news as soon as possible, but we do disagree with reporters accepting the courtesy of an advanced copy of the budget on the promise they will hold it until the proper release time, and then breaking that trust.

Agnes Kern, Granite City

"Some people would probably like to travel abroad, but I feel there are so many places I haven't seen in the United States, that I'd like to visit them. If I had a choice I'd probably like to go to Washington (the state). I went out there one time to the World's Fair, and I really enjoyed it."

Mrs. Hawkins responds to Briggs, Garcia

To the Editor:

I would like to make a statement about the Nameoki Township meeting of Feb. 12, 1985.

Mr. Joe Garcia called for my resignation under "old business" shirking my duties. There was no such old business to start with and

Mr. Garcia should have been called out of order because Mr. Briggs (Supervisor Harry Briggs) and Mr. Garcia were out to discredit myself, no such action was taken.

I can see that the next three meetings before the election April 2, 1985, will be "Discredit Helen Hawkins."

Mr. Briggs and Mr. Garcia should resign for not knowing how to conduct a regular township meeting. It is time for Nameoki Township politics to be cleared up.

Opposes IRS rules on use of company cars

To the Editor:

Now that the IRS's "trial balloon" announcement of new record-keeping rules on business use of company-owned vehicles has drawn considerable fire, the IRS, predictably, is resorting to the old "divide and conquer" tactic to quell opposition. The new regulations, as originally announced, are sweeping in their application. Everyone driving a company-owned or company-owned car on business must keep accurate daily records on each business trip, its mileage and purpose. Failure to do this can jeopardize a company's eligibility for depreciation deductions on the car and for the investment tax credit.

At his recent confirmation hearing, Treasury Secretary James Baker promised "to do something about" the new regulations. And last week the IRS, again predictably, said it would soon announce "exceptions" to the regulation, notably for farmers, "certain sales and service" workers, real estate and other sales people.

FAST RESPONSE HELPED PUT OUT HOUSE FIRE

To the Editor:

We would like to recognize the Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department for their prompt response and quick action when our house caught fire Jan. 25. They were able to contain the fire to one area. If they had not responded as quickly as they did, the house probably would have been a total loss.

It was a job well done.

Accuses Price of denying representation

To the Editor:

Illinois Congressman Mel Price supported attempts Feb. 7 to steal a seat in the House of Representatives, leaving over half of a million people without representation in the U.S. House.

Price bowed to the wishes of the Democratic powerbrokers in the House and voted to refuse to seat Indiana Republican Rick McIntyre as a member of the House. A recount has been completed and confirms that McIntyre won.

the seat for their Democrat candidate.

"McIntyre was the winner of this race by votes. The ballots were counted and the secretary of State of Indiana certified the results. Later, the ballots were recounted and McIntyre's lead increased to 418 votes. Despite these facts, the Democrats in the House are abusing their power by refusing to seat the winner."

"Republicans asked that the House seat McIntyre provisionally while the recount procedures in Indiana are examined. But Price and the Democrats voted against, even this reasonable request, denying over half of a million people their voice in Congress."

"The residents of the Eighth Congressional District in Indiana have a right to representation. Mel Price and his colleagues should be ashamed of their abuse of power. The vote to refuse to seat Rick McIntyre was an arrogant action that will not go unnoticed by fair-minded persons of both political parties."

ANSWERS SPARKS' LETTER ON CHOUTEAU CLUB

To the Editor:

I read in the Forum the concerns Mr. Sparks (Chouteau Township Supervisor Walter Sparks) has of the Chouteau Citizens' Club functions and how and why they raise and spend their funds. I wonder why that is more important to him than securing ambulance service for the citizens of Mitchell or shuttle bus service, or improved drainage in all areas, or devoting his energies to the growth and development of Chouteau Township.

I find it appalling that he alone has decided that the citizens of Mitchell do not need these services.

Our citizens pay to subscribe for service from one ambulance company and hope another will respond. If called, from Wood River. Our people deserve better than a "hit and miss" ambulance service and I will assure you they will get it.

I am proud to be a part of the United For Progress Party endorsed by the Chouteau Citizens' Club.

Says CUB will help fight IP rate hikes

To the Editor:

Suppose you go into the grocery to buy a loaf of bread. The grocer tells you that the bread won't be available until next week, but you must pay for it now. When you come back the next week to pick up your bread, the grocer tells you he "forgot" it. You'll have to pay six or seven times the original price before you get the bread. Chances are, you'll have to pay more next week, too. Time to find a new grocer.

Sound familiar? If you're a customer of Illinois Power, that's exactly what's been happening to your purchases of electricity. Ratepayers may not be able to find a new power company, but there is a new way to fight IP's incessant rate hikes. It's called CUB.

Those of us who are customers of the Illinois Power Company (IP) will find something unusual from CUB in our February bill. It's a special bulletin from the Citizens Utility Board (CUB) telling how we can help fight high IP rates. The brochure (which IP is required to mail you by law) depicts a beleaguered consumer being relentlessly pursued by a tight of hairs by a nasty-looking nuclear cooling tank. Those stairs represent the spiraling costs of IP's Clinton nuclear plant. That beleaguered consumer is you.

The Clinton plant is possibly the most controversial construction project in our state today. Conceived in the early 1970's (and originally estimated to cost $429 million) it has been plagued by cost overruns and mismanagement, so much so that it was the subject of a "60 Minutes" investigation in 1979. The most recent estimate of Clinton's cost — according to the company itself — is $3.5 billion. And, like the grocer selling you "future bread," IP has asked the Illinois Commerce Commission for permission to increase its residential rates now 22.5 percent (or $139 million) to help pay for the Clinton plant, which will not produce a single kilowatt-hour of electricity until 1986 at the earliest.

Being asked to pay for a plant that is not producing electricity doesn't seem fair, does it? CUB members don't think so. That's why the Citizens Utility Board has registered its opposition to the latest IP rate boost before the ICC. The ICC — a seven-member body appointed by the governor — must hear all the arguments and decide if IP really needs higher rates. In this instance, the case is clear.

IP said it needs $139 million of our money to "maintain its financial integrity." During January hearings, IP paraded in their experts — including former presidential adviser Alfred Kahn who charged $12,000 for his one-day appearance — to make the case for higher rates. IP's case could cost as much as $400,000, but they're not worried — ratepayers will be picking up the tab.

CUB attorneys cross-examined the utility's high priced witnesses for several days. Their answers to CUB questions make it clear that IP does not need $139 million of our money to remain financially solvent. In fact, CUB believes that Illinois Power can remain a financially sound utility without one extra dime of our money.

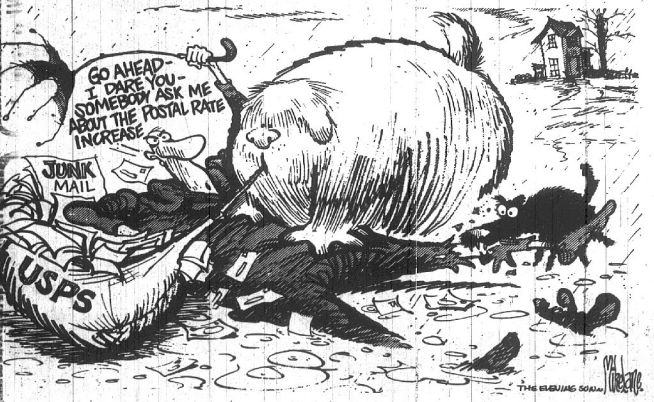

Because IP does not really need to raise our rates 22.5 percent to maintain financial health, they are trying to sell the ICC and the public on the rate hike plan by threatening "rate shock." They say that if they don't get their rate hike today, rates will skyrocket when the Clinton plant finally starts producing electricity. IP executives apparently don't find a 22.5 percent rate hike today "shocking."

IP's talk about "rate shock" is simply that — talk. The way to avoid "rate shock" is by forbidding IP to charge customers for the string of management errors and cost overruns associated with construction of the Clinton plant. The grocer pays for his own mistakes; Illinois Power should play by the same rules.

Furthermore, by gradually phasing in the legitimate costs of Clinton once the plant is actually operating, ratepayers can be insulated from "shocking" rate increases. Stinging customers with unnecessary rate hikes before the plant is built is no solution to the problem.

In February, CUB experts will file testimony opposing the IP rate hike. We'll argue that the rate hike is unnecessary, premature and a burden on the public. CUB experts need your help. If you're as angry about this as I am, then mail in that special CUB insert and join the 70,000 Illinois CUB members in the fight against unfair utility bills.

Cruse 'position paper' urges downtown redevelopment plan

A plan to revitalize the downtown Granite City area was revealed Friday in a "position paper" by Granite City Township Assessor Von Dee Cruse, a candidate for mayor in the April 2 election.

The plan includes removal of all parking meters downtown, providing adequate parking and planting attractive landscaping. Cruse also advocates incentives for businesses to move downtown and urges that city officials "project belief and enthusiasm in our community."

"This will be our first task—to target certain business decision makers and make them aware of downtown Granite City and its accessibility to all parts of the metropolitan area; to show them the reasonable occupancy costs of locating in downtown Granite City; to provide a pleasant and attractive atmosphere for their office or business; to convince them we are proud of our community and that we want them to locate with us, and to start a trend that will lead to a large number of offices and businesses relocating to our downtown area," Cruse said.

He contended achieving those goals will start a snowball of success rolling. "As more jobs are created and more office workers are located in the central business district, they will shop the downtown retail stores.

As these stores become successful, more retail stores will want to locate in this area.

"As the selection of retail outlets increases and the shopping atmosphere improves, more shoppers will come to downtown Granite City. The circle to a healthy and prosperous central business district will be complete. The growth will continue. We will have a downtown that will be the backbone of our community—a downtown we can all be proud of," he added.

He noted, "Thousands of dollars have been spent by the city in the last several years for professional consultants to provide us with a plan for redevelopment. Nothing has happened."

"It is time to recognize that we have come to a turning point in city government. The next few years of leadership in city hall will determine whether or not we survive the crisis that we are faced with today.

"If we have a weak heart, we have a weak body. The same applies to our city—if we have a weak downtown, we have a weak city. We must make an all-out effort to stop the cancerous growth of decay from spreading to the residential area surrounding our central business district. Revitalization should be one of our town's first concerns," Cruse said.

Cable firm to shuffle channels

Customers of South-Western Cable, Ltd., will find something different when they turn on their televisions Feb. 28—most St. Louis stations will line up with their actual channel numbers on the converter box.

Mary Hildebrand, assistant general manager, said South-Western's programming list has to be shuffled with the addition of two new stations.

That means viewers will soon find KTVI Channel 2, KMOX Channel 4 and KSDK Channel 5 at their matching channel numbers on the converter box.

On the converter box, KTVI has been on channel 3, KMOX on channel 6 and KSDK on channel 7. One of the new cable channels, C-SPAN, will be on channel 6 beginning Feb. 28. C-SPAN provides around-the-clock coverage of the U.S. House of Representatives and other governmental functions in Washington, D.C.

The Arts and Entertainment Channel will go full-time beginning Feb. 28 and move to channel 7. The Weather Channel will move from channel 2 to KTVI's old position, channel 3.

The Eternal Work Network, the other new channel in addition to C-SPAN, will be aired evenings after Nickelodeon on channel 8. "It's for Catholics. We've had a lot of requests for it," Mrs. Hildebrand said.

KITC Channel 9 and KPLR Channel 11 will keep their matching channel spots on the converter box. KNDL Channel 30 and KNLC Channel 24 will take channels 12 and 13 on the converter box, respectively.

South-Western's public access channel will move from channel 22 (or channel 1) on the converter box to channel 10.

The channel 1 spot vacated by the public access channel will be taken by Chicago's WGN Channel 9, which will move from channel 19 (or channel F) on the converter box.

WGN's old spot on the converter box will not be filled after Feb. 28, at least for a while.

CHIEF PARENTE said fire department personnel will make copies of various documents for those applying, if necessary.

He noted that installing the smoke detectors is a relatively simple task, but help will be provided with the installation, if required. Persons wishing such assistance are being invited to request help when obtaining a smoke detector at the fire station.

When distribution resumes Thursday, the detectors will be available at the main fire station Mondays through Fridays between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Madison fire

it was this inaccessibility of the fire that was the toughest factor in combating the blaze. "It was hard to get to," he said. "We broke out some glass-block windows to get to it (the fire) better, but when we did, we were confronted with some steel shelving.

Although no other fire departments assisted in extinguishing the blaze, several other groups offered their help in other ways. According to the fire chief, Haden's Restaurant provided cups of coffee and soft drinks for the firemen, the Madison, Venice and the Chicago & North Western Railroad police provided crowd and traffic control and Danny Green, an emergency medical technician with the Granite City Ambulance Service, helped care for Niehaus' injuries.

Macek said firefighters were called back to the blaze at about 3 p.m. Sunday. The chief said some pieces of the roof were smoldering and firemen worked about 30 minutes to put them out.

High school physicals given Feb. 27

With winter sports beginning their final leg of the season this week, some people are beginning to think spring, particularly Granite City High School Athletic Director Greg Patton.

To be sure that the spring sports programs get off on the right foot, Patton has slated Wednesday, Feb. 27, as the day that physical examinations will be given at the high school. The exams, which cost $5, are necessary to participate in spring sports.

Athletes who wish to participate in sports this spring who have not had a physical examination this school year, must attend this session.

The physicals will be given in Memorial Gymnasium, for both boys and girls, beginning at 5 p.m.

Suess' series tops 300

There aren't many times when a guy can bowl a 300 game and then say, "Well so what," but that's just about the way Mike Suess felt about his most recent success on the bowling lanes.

For Suess, 20, the 300 game that he bowled on Monday, Jan. 28, at Boyland was great, but not nearly as great, in his opinion, as the 812 series that went along with it.

"I was excited about the 300, but I was more excited about the series," Suess said. "I guess I'd been different if it were my first (300 game)."

For Suess, it was his second perfect game. A member of the Animals, he bowls in the Monday Late League. He recorded his first perfect game in November 1983.

The other scores in that series, incidentally, were 286 and 246.

Tax tips

Need help with your taxes? Turn on your television and tune into the Internal Revenue Service. In February and March, the IRS has planned two tax programs to be broadcast on Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) stations and one Spanish language program on the National Spanish Television Network (SIN).

These programs feature line-by-line instructions on completing Forms 1040EZ and 1040A; a comprehensive discussion of the Form 1040; and up-to-date news on tax law changes. There is also a program specifically for taxpayers age 55 and over. These programs will describe available taxpayer assistance and provide taxpayers with useful information on their tax rights and responsibilities.

During the program, taxpayers will be able to call in tax questions over the toll-free number, 1-800-424-1040. Watch your local television guide for the exact date and time of an IRS tax show to help you.

Eagles Aerie and Auxiliary celebrates Founder's Day

The Granite City Fraternal Order of Eagles Aerie 1126 and Auxiliary celebrated Founder's Day with a dinner and special initiation of new candidates at the local Eagle Home, 2558 Madison Avenue, making the 77th anniversary for the organization nationally and in Canada.

Prior to the dinner Harold Love, Aerie President, said, "Grand Worthy President Russell Clark asked all members of this fraternal organization that we belong to."

Eighty-seven years ago on the sixth of February the fraternal Order of Eagles was formed by six theatre owners at a meeting at a Seattle waterfront. From this first meeting the Eagles have grown to over 2 million members in all 50 states and Canada and our motto "People Helping People" has meant millions of dollars for research for heart, kidney, cancer, diabetes and many other diseases too numerous to mention."

Love then introduced Bud Shaffer, Aerie Chaplain, who gave the blessing.

Following the dinner, Love introduced the Aerie officers and Aerie state officers and their wives which included: past president, Randy H. Odom and Connie, vice president, Larry W. Barnhart; chaplain, Bud Shaffer and Sharon; inside guard, Mel Havron; secretary, John Aubuchon and Jo Ann; treasurer, John Turner and Joyce; 3-year trustee, Greg McCall; 2-year trustee, Larry Patton Sr. and Mickey; 1-year trustee, Chris VonNida; state trustee, Bob Stanton; and Illinois Zone 3 Chairman of the Golden Eagle Fund Carl Buehler and his wife Angie, who is an Illinois State auxiliary trustee.

Love and Mrs. Hill then thanked Chris VonNida, Bill Hausstein and Gene McCall for preparing the food and Bonnie Brown, Rose Schlake and Dee Moore for serving the dinner.

Following the introductions the women moved to the meeting hall for the initiation of their candidates into the auxiliary.

New members taking the oath of membership were Lois Hansen, Frankie Hormann, Dixie Anderson, Erma Cox, Mary Nomm, Eleanor Dickman and Joyce Turner. At the same time a myriad of statewide organizations not only watch legislation of particular interest to the group, the organizations also provide lists of lawmakers and telephone numbers. Legislative rosters are also provided by the General Assembly. Daily happenings are kept by the individual chambers and when they are printed, the booklets are available to the public.

If telephone calls don't bring the desired results, the individuals may come to the Capitol Building. Sometimes individual organizations even organize bus trips for interested persons. At these visits not only can a taxpayer receive the information of the office, but they can also buttonhole their individual lawmaker to make their feelings heard. Of course the legislature should be in session, if the person wants to talk to the legislator.

The information on the legislature is available. It is up to the individual taxpayer to ferret it out.

Information at your fingertips

By Ray Serati

SPRINGFIELD — If you are looking for information on legislation before the General Assembly why don't you let your fingers do the walking.

If you are interested in legislation and want to know about it, the Illinois House operates a toll-free number. It is 1-800-252-6300. The clerks answering the telephone will try to get as much available information as possible for the caller on the legislation.

The telephone is operated under the supervision of House Speaker Michael Madigan's office. Information on the legislation is handled on a nonpartisan basis. The information given out doesn't just cover House bills, the clerks will also handle questions dealing with pending legislation in the Senate as a public service to the callers.

The so-called "hot-line" is not designed for someone to call and leave a message for a particular lawmaker. The legislators have their own offices which handle calls for either constituents or interested parties. Secretaries and staff members handle inquiries to the individual legislator's office.

The hot-line clerk has access to a computer system which stores the information on the legislation. With proper coding and other necessary information the legislation can be tracked. The clerk calls up the information on a large video display terminal and gives it to the caller.

The hours for the hot-line are normal daytime working hours, but when the legislature goes into night session clerks will try to accommodate callers. At the present time, the clerks are receiving four or five calls per day. Many of those callers are still seeking information on legislation introduced.

Diabetes and heart disease are topics of SEMC Coronary Club

A general overview of diabetes, its symptoms, complications and management will be discussed by Carol Henrichs, a registered nurse and diabetes educator, at the next Coronary Club meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 20, at 7 p.m., in the Wiesman Room of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave. "There is no cure for diabetes," said Nurse Henrichs. "But there is a great deal of information available that can help diabetes live full lives and avoid the threat of heart disease."

Also scheduled for discussion is the club's 1985 agenda. "During this meeting, we will set goals and compile the activities and events for the entire year," said Bev Motil, Coronary Club coordinator. "It is very important that all Coronary Club members attend. We need their input to help make this year as successful as the last."

The Coronary Club, open to anyone interested in learning more about heart disease, serves as a resource to heart patients, their relatives and interested professionals. The club also provides education and supportive socialization for persons diagnosed with coronary artery disease.

As associates, individuals receive free membership, parking privileges and transportation to meetings.

Any cancellation of Coronary Club meetings or functions because of bad weather are announced on KMOX "SnowWatch" during the early morning and evening hours.

For more information or to arrange for transportation, interested persons may contact Bev Motil at 798-3659.

Pleads innocent to sexual abuse

Dennis C. Miller, 23, who lives in Kirkpatrick Homes, was brought from an Alton hospital to Granite City police headquarters last week in response to the issuance of a warrant alleging criminal sexual abuse.

In a court appearance, Miller pleaded innocent and requested a trial by jury. He was released on a $6,000 recognizance bond, pending a trial date being set.

The misdemeanor charge stemmed from an incident, occurring Dec. 17 at a Kirkpatrick Homes apartment, where a mother alleged to officers that Miller allegedly fondled her 10-year-old son and also made immoral suggestions to the boy.

Ken Spencer, youth guidance and sports committee chairman, and Randy Odom, Eagles Bass Anglers committee chairman, each gave reports on their respective committees and it was reported by Lou Youse, chairman of the sick and visiting committee, that Lester Farmer had returned home from the hospital and that Frank Earney had entered DePaul Hospital.

Pat McKinney, chairman of the interviewing committee announced that there were five candidates waiting for initiation into the Aerie. Other members of the committee were Don Horn and Lou Torse.

Members of the Aerie initiation (ritual) team were: Randy Odom, Harold Love, Larry Barnhart, Bud Shaffer, Bob Stanton, Mel Havron and John Aubuchon.

New members taking the oath of membership were Robert Wiggins, L. Wayne Short, William Adams, Myrel Williams and Harvey Dennis.

John Aubuchon gave the secretary's report and John Turner read the treasurer's report.

Love mentioned that Feb. 16 was the date for the annual Eagles Sweetheart Dance and that all proceeds from the dance will go towards the National Eagles Heart Fund.

The Eagles Bass Anglers Club will meet at noon and the Eagles pinocchio club will meet at 7 p.m. on Feb. 17.

Illinois Auxiliary President Rosa Hamblen (Herrin) and visiting state officers will arrive at the Eagles Home on Feb. 22, at 7 p.m., on Feb. 23 a potluck dinner will be hosted and entertainment will be provided by the local Auxiliary Kitchen Band in honor of the visiting officers. The monthly Aerie breakfast for Aerie and Auxiliary members will be at 9 a.m. and the Granite City Auxiliary will host the Auxiliary District meeting at 1 p.m. followed by a dinner on Feb. 24.

The president closed the meeting following the ceremony conducted by Chaplain Bud Shaffer, Randy Odom and Larry Barnhart.

Warriors lose matchup, but advance three

GRANITE CITY — When the Granite City Sectional wrestling tournament ended shortly before 10 Saturday night at Memorial Gymnasium, it brought Bill "Red" Schmitt one step closer to retirement.

He's not there yet, Jeff Cotter (88 lbs.), Richie Wilson (105), and Steve Knogl (167) prolonged the career of with his 600th career dual meet victory and 25th regional title, had made his final ride a sweet one, he said.

"This is not the best team I've ever had," said Schmitt. "But they sure hung in there as well as any I've ever had."

"It was an enjoyable season," Schmitt said. "Some seasons aren't enjoyable. Some are. I really enjoyed this bunch of kids."

"I'm proud of the kids the way they wrestled tonight. All were out there trying, even kids who got waxed tonight. The kids hung in there. That's all I can ask. It was gratifying."

Bill "Red" Schmitt
Warrior wrestling coach

their legendary coach by qualifying for the state tournament that will be held this weekend in Champaign.

Cotter, a senior, and Wilson, a sophomore, each took third places in their respective weight classes. Knogl, a senior and the only Warrior to advance to a championship bout, placed second in his division. (see related story). The top three finishers in each class advance.

IN QUALIFYING for the state tournament, Cotter, Wilson and Knogl continued one of Schmitt's most enduring records. He has never had a team fail to advance a wrestler to state play in the 38 years he has coached, the last 35 of which were at Granite City.

As a team, however, the Warriors fell short of winning the sectional and advancing to state play, losing to power-packed Springfield Southeast, 32-22, in a dual meet held following the individual championship round matches.

The Warriors and Southeast had advanced to the sectional as teams by winning their respective regionals, then defeating another regional winner, The Warriors squeaked by Belleville East, Southeast crushed Herculano.

THE VICTORY kept Southeast, which qualified five wrestlers including three champions for state play, unbeaten at 20-0 in dual meet play this season.

Though the season is still alive for Schmitt, the dual meet with Southeast marked the last time he will coach a team at GCHS.

"I did probably much like the way he coached," said Granite City coach Harry Truman. As the final match was in process, Schmitt was on his feet, exhorting his wrestlers. Heavyweight Chris Greer, though Greer's subsequent 3-0 victory did not alter the outcome.

THE STANDS, nearly three-quarters filled during the championship round, had largely emptied by then.

"The Warriors' play in the sectional and against Southeast put Schmitt at ease, had left him with a smile. His final team, which presented him

"I'm proud of the kids the way they wrestled tonight," Schmitt said. "All were out there trying. Even kids who got waxed tonight. The kids hung in there. That's all I can ask. It was gratifying."

One hundred and forty-four wrestlers from 34 teams were entered.

IN ALL, 10 Warriors competed in the sectional. Greer did not qualify, but was inserted into the tournament due to an illness to Jerseyville's Eric Simon.

Of the Warriors who failed to advance, Mann (112) came the closest to securing a berth in state play. Mann led Belleville East's Craig Schwab in their bout for third place by one point with five seconds left. Schwab scored on a two point maneuver to win, 3-2. (see related story).

Aside from the three qualifiers and Mann, none of the other Warrior entrants (Brent Carner, 119; Vince Sleeka, 126; Mark Whitaker, 145; Mike Fenoglio, 155; Tracy McElroy, 185; and heavyweight Greer) advanced to the championship round.

SOUTHEAST led the way in the number of individual qualifiers with five, including three champions (Mark Gardner 138, Mark's brother, Greg 155, and Copache Tyler 185). Bill Wake (98) and Todd Claycomb (126) took second and third respectively.

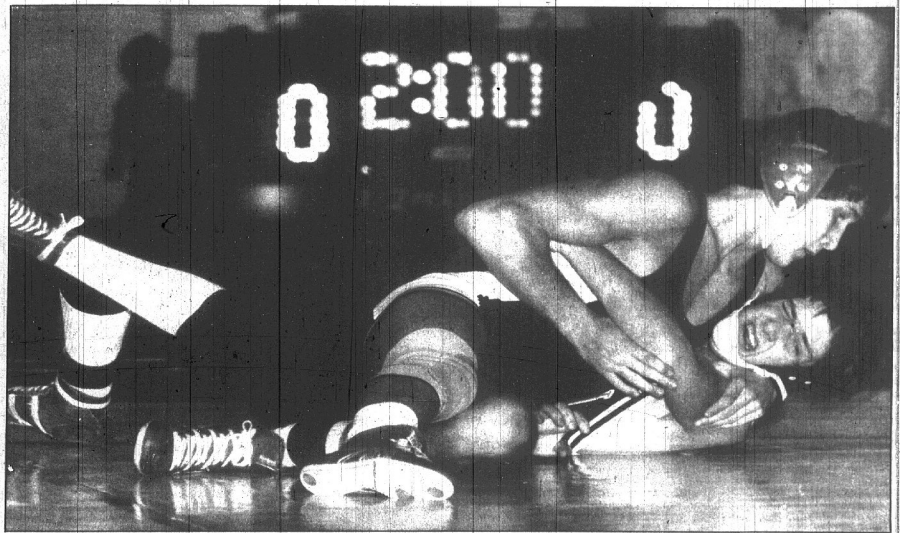

Kip Kristoff of Civic Memorial continued toward a third state championship by winning the 145-pound title. Teammate Dallas Zimmerman finished runner-up to Mark Gardner at 138.

Belleville East got two individual champions in Vince Black (126) and Steve Hernan (132) and another qualifier in Ken Baldwin (145).

Cahokia's Bryan Patterson (112) and Kevin Byrd (122) also won titles. Chris Lindsay (167) of Mascoutah won the championship at his division.

Odds were long the Warriors would upset Southeast in the team sectional.

BUT the Warriors gave it a terrific shot. In fact, they sent Southeast tumbling to the mat,

WORKING HIM OVER. Granite City High School's Vince Sleeka, 126 pounds, gives Lincoln's Jay Leathers a going over during the Granite City High School Wrestling Sectional Tournament Friday. Sleeka easily handled Leathers during their first-round match, winning 7-1. Despite his winning effort against Leathers, Sleeka was not one of the three Warriors who will advance to this weekend's State Wrestling Tournament in Champaign.

bolting to a 19-0 lead. The Warriors took command on the strength of a 10-2 major decision victory by Cotter (98) over Bill Wake, who had defeated Cotter during individual play, a 7-2 decision by Wilson (112), an electrifying pin by Mann at 5:35, and a forfeit victory to Brent Carner (119). Southeast did not enter a wrestler in the class.

"I knew we'd be down," said Southeast coach Jack Gardner, the father of individual title winners Mark and Greg.

SOUTHEAST appeared as if it might be pinned when the Warriors' Vince Sleeka hoisted Todd Claycomb off his feet early in their 126-pound bout.

Sleeka had narrowly lost to Claycomb, 6-5, in a qualifying match for third place during the individual part of the sectional. Claycomb went on to take third place.

With the Warriors' ahead 19-0, Sleeka and Claycomb held little back. "They were like two fighters going at it," said Schmitt.

When Sleeka grabbed Claycomb in a bear hug and lifted him in the air, Sleeka appeared as if he would have the advantage.

As breathtaking as the move was,

it was also decisive.

"EITHER he goes (gets pinned) or the other one goes," said Schmitt of Sleeka's move.

When landing with Claycomb on the mat, Sleeka found himself in a pinned position.

Claycomb got the pin.

It was critical. The pin represented a wake of 12 points.

After breaking into the scoring column, Southeast went on to other good things. Mark Gardner (37-4) defeated Tom Sparks, 14-2, at 138, and brother Greg (38-2) slipped by Fenoglio, 15-6, in their 155-pound title.

Copache Tyler (185, Southeast's third title winner and undefeated at 38-0), pinned McElroy at 3:05.

OTHER Warriors distinguished themselves. Whitaker (145) trailed badly in his match with James Lewis but nearly pinned Lewis in the late going. Whitaker also battled with bruised ribs.

Fenoglio (155), though losing, fought hard in his match with Greg Gardner, earning six points and a BELEVILLE — Dust hadn't even begun to settle on the mats after the first session of Friday's Granite City High School Wrestling Sectional before news had come from Belleville East that the Warriors had six wrestlers named to the All-Southwestern Conference Wrestling Team.

It was welcome news. It was welcome for those six Warrior athletes who were named to the All-Conference First Team, and also for the seven who received second team and honorable mention honors.

GRANITE first team honors were Jeff Cotter, 88 pounds; Darrin Singleton, 105 pounds; Gary Mann, 112 pounds; Tom Sparks, 138 pounds; Mike Fenoglio, 155 pounds; and Steve Knogl, 167 pounds. Cotter and Knogl, by virtue of their finishes

THE 13 Warriors who received recognition was tops for any school in the conference. Belleville East, the conference runner-up to the Warriors, had 10 athletes named to the first, second and honorable mention teams.

The Warriors' six first team picks is exactly twice that of any other team's. Again, East's Lancers were runner-up in that category with Vince Black, 126 pounds; Steve Knoebel, 132 pounds, and Ken Baldwin, 145 pounds, receiving the top honors.

Tonight It's do or die for skaters; meet Flyers in Brentwood

Warrior coach Garry Henson put it, "We stunk up the ice. We were terrible. We didn't shoot. We didn't pass. We didn't skate. I'm totally dissatisfied with their desire and attitude."

Henson suggested the Warriors' victory Friday — sparked by two third period goals — lulled his skaters to thinking they would have an easy time of it Saturday. On the contrary.

CHAMPAINE scored two early goals in the first period and survived two, two-man power play opportunities by the Warriors — one toward the end of the second period and the other at the start of the third period — in skating to victory and a third game.

The skaters are clear now. The way the Warriors played Saturday however, leaves Henson wondering if his skaters have enough interest and desire to prevail. They'd better, he warns.

"We're playing a very good hockey team," he said.

The Warriors qualified for the finals last year, though their record during the regular season was not as glittering as this year.

THE WARRIORS are 22-4. Champaigne is 18-5-1.

For fans interested in attending tonight's contest, they should take the Poplar St. Bridge to Highway 40 west, exit onto Brentwood Blvd. south. Brentwood Community Center is two miles on Brentwood Blvd. It is located on the right hand side of the road.

The drive from Granite City takes about 30 minutes, Henson said.

Cotter, Knogl And Wilson Grapplers take different paths

By JOE THOMPSON
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY Four paths, three that lead to Champaign and the state tournament wrestling finals. One that ended just short.

Jeff Cotter didn't sleep on Friday night. The Granite City High Warrior hopeful in the 98-pound class figured he would have a couple of tough matches the next day in the sectional tournament here.

One ended up being especially tough, a 10-3 defeat to Bill Wake of Springfield Southeast in the quarterfinals. Cotter led with seconds to go when Wake threw him on his back for two points sending the bout into overtime where Wake prevailed.

THE DEFEAT washed out the other tough match Cotter expected — a meeting with Eric Walker of Carbondale for the sectional title. It could have been a return match-up. The two duelled last year and Cotter lost. They also met in the title bout of the Granite City Holiday tournament, and Cotter lost.

Knocked out of the championship bracket, Cotter stayed alive — but barely — squeaking by Jeff Malcom of Mt. Carmel, 5-3, to qualify for a chance at third place.

He went home and took a nap before the evening session. When he woke up, something was different. Something also hurt. His shoulder.

BUT something was different. Cotter trounced Dennis Palmer of Belleville East, 11-3, for third place. He shook his fist in the air in triumph.

Then, in the team title meet against Southeast, Cotter crushed Wake, 10-3. He shook his fist some more, batted the sides of his headgear, and smiled a lot.

Something did happen during that nap. Cotter had not been wrestling well. He had to settle for a 10-6 decision against a wrestler he had pinned in 44 seconds during the season. The match with Belleville East's Palmer was of considerable concern since it was the fifth time the two had met. Each time, Palmer came closer to winning. He lost by only 7-4 the last time the two met during last Tuesday's Regional meet.

"I've been down. I don't know what was wrong," said Cotter. "I went home (after Saturday afternoon's session) and went to sleep."

WHEN HE woke, his wrestling slump was gone.

"I guess I came out of it," said Cotter.

Some observers, including Cotter's father, thought Jeff had psyched himself up too much, and that the defeat wiped away the tension. Cotter didn't fully endorse the reasoning.

"I don't know what the problem was," he said.

A senior, Cotter takes a 37-2 record to the state meet. This is the second year he qualified.

Unlike Cotter, the trails that Steve Knogl (167) and Richie Wilson (105) took to the state tournament were quite different.

KNOWL rolled to the championship bout against Mascoutah's Chris Lindsay with little problem. Included was a 15-1 victory in the quarterfinals.

Knogl started fast against Lindsay, taking a 2-0 lead. But he faltered badly and lost 9-4. He also was defeated by Mike Gray, 11-3, in the dual meet against Southeast.

Retake SWC Lead Warriors edge Belleville West, 47-46

By JAMES BLASINGAME

of the Press-Record
BELLEVILLE — Granite City High School's basketball Warriors overcame an 11-point halftime deficit to edge Southwestern Conference foe Belleville West 47-46 here Saturday.

The Warriors' victory combined with Collinsville's loss to East St. Louis on Friday evening, gives Granite City a chance to at least tie for the conference championship with a win in one of its two remaining conference games.

In the first half against Belleville West, the Warriors looked sluggish. The Maroons' offense penetrated the wings of the 2-3 Granite City zone and took the baseline at will.

WEST scored 10 of its 28 first-half points from the foul stripe, a result of the Warriors trying to stop the Maroons from driving to the hoop.

Six-foot 9-inch senior center Don Stevanus picked up his fourth personal with 2:49 left in the second period and was ejected to the Granite City bench.

The Warriors weren't having much success on the offensive end either.

"We forced a lot of shots and our passing was atrocious," said Warrior coach Don Deterding. "We had some players out there who were thinking more about themselves than they were of the team in the first half."

AFTER totaling just 17 points in the first two quarters, Granite City lit up the scoreboard for 18 more in the third period alone. The sudden turnaround in the Warrior attack didn't come from an offensive change. It was a defensive move.

In the second half, Granite City substituted a 1-3-1 half-court trap in place of its passive 2-3 zone. The added pressure forced West turnovers and traveling violations, that opened the doors for Granite City's offense.

"Their defensive change gave us trouble," admitted Maroon coach Roger Mueller. "They came back on us in a hurry."

"GANT (6-foot 5-inch senior forward Scott) did a superb job on the wing. He plays the passing lanes and reads the weakside so well. Cant was a real force on the zone, but they all hustled. Granite City played a nice zone for years."

The Warriors allowed a mere three baskets in that third quarter. Senior Jeff Gray dropped in six points, while fellow classmen Kurt Hylla and Cant added two buckets each for Granite City, giving the Warriors a 35-34 edge at the end of the period.

In the fourth period the lead changed hands eight times. West's Jeff Walls canned a 10-foot turnaround with 2:45 left that put the Maroons in front 46-45.

MOMENTS later Gray fired a jumper from the right corner, that turned out to be the game's final basket. Granite City led 47-46 with two minutes remaining, but the excitement was far from over.

West had four scoring opportunities in the last two minutes, but could not convert. The last chance came with six seconds on the clock, as the Maroons owned the ball in front of their bench.

West's Doug Sperry put up a shot from just beyond the foul line. The ball bounced off the rim to the left side where Jon Burnett tapped it back toward the hole. But the ball bounced off the rim once again as the buzzer sounded, and Granite City came away with its sixth conference win in eight tries.

"THEY (the Warriors) should be happier than heck that they won," Deterding laughed. "I think they realize that they didn't play that well."

"That half-court trap made the difference. It got us more involved—it got us moving."

"We came to play in the third quarter. We just stood around in the first half, but we boarded extremely well in the third and fourth quarters," Deterding said. "We played a lot better in all areas in the second half."

"Coach gave us a pretty good talk at halftime," said junior Joe Gray, the Warriors' floor general. "We got our group together at the beginning of the third quarter and decided we were going to win. I think everybody wanted it (the victory)."

GANT led the Warriors with 15 points, while Jeff Gray added 12 and Hylla seven. Sophomore Timmy Hogan chipped in four points and played a sound game for Granite City, which upped its record to 14-7 overall. West, now 8-13 and 2-7, was led by Kevin Prindle with 21 points.

The Warriors invade East St. Louis on Saturday night to take on the Flyers in an important Southwestern Conference contest. Game time is 6:30.

Sets NCAA Pin Record Sears paces Cougars to title

EDWARDSVILLE — History was made Friday night at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Wrestling history.

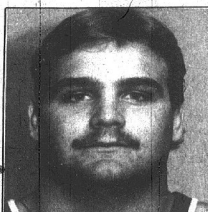

The man making that bit of history was Al Sears, the Cougars' 270-pound heavyweight. Sears, who improved his season tally to 33-5 with 27 pins as of Friday, picked up his 107 college career pin with a fall of Jon Perry of the University of Missouri-Rolla in 18 seconds.

Sears' pin was a history maker not because of what little time it took to dispose of Perry, rather it, being his 107th, was an NCAA record, breaking the 12-year-old record set by Wade Schalles of Clarion State University.

And how did the enormous heavyweight celebrate his unprecedented feat? Besides anyway he wants to — the record-setting Sears simply pulled up his socks which were inconspicuously around his ankles. Seven on those socks, up the shins, were the big red numbers 1-0-7.

Following Sears' performance, the fact that the defending national champion Cougars ran away with the team seemed almost anticlimactic. They posted their 12th consecutive regional title, SIUE, clinching eight of the 10 individual championships. Finished with 127 points, more than double that of second place University of Wisconsin-Parkside with 62 1/2 points.

Sports of all Sorts Paris, Eiffel Tower and fear of heights

By AL BARNES

of the Press-Record
Phobias can be unreasonable things to those suffering from them.

A phobia is described as a "neurosis which is characterized by an exaggerated anxiety on confrontation with a specific object or situation."

The two most common phobias are agoraphobia and claustrophobia. The first is the fear of, or a morbid dread of, leaving one's home. Claustrophobia, on the other hand, is just the opposite, or the fear of being confined in a small space.

Mine is the fear of high places. However, the odd thing about my phobia is: I have no fear, at all, of flying in a plane. Several years back I attended a Sports Information Directors of American Colleges convention held in Los Angeles. On our (my wife and I) way to the West Coast, we routed ourselves so that we could take in the Grand Canyon. When we neared the canyon, I kept telling myself that the height wouldn't bother me because, after all, the viewing space was fenced in, etc.

But, when I got to the edge and looked over into space, my old tummy started churning and suddenly, I was faint.

Well, in 1975, I accompanied the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer team to an international tournament held in Amsterdam, Holland to celebrate the 800th birthday of that wonderful city. College and junior teams from countries all around the world were entered.

The Cougar kickers, as were most North American teams, were held in open scorn and near contempt and given little if any chance of winning anything at all by the European sports reporters.

But, surprise, surprise, guess which two teams played for the championship of the tournament?

Why no other than SIUE and Quincy College.

And the Cougars of Coach Bob Guelker won it, 3-2, after a long and grueling, but exciting, 10 days of tough competition.

After the tournament, Bill Schnefke, who played goalie for Granite City High in the early seventies and was a junior tender at SIUE in 1975, and I decided to take the famous railroad European Express from Holland down to Paris in the days we had left before winging back to the States.

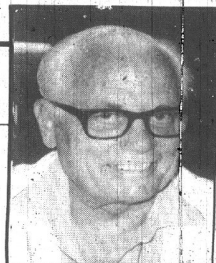

High on our list of things and places to see was, of course, the famed Eiffel Tower, which was, incidentally, just two blocks from our hotel. The Windsor, where the Prince of Wales "courted" Wallis Simpson before they married.

Since the tower was so close and also having a well deserved fear of the high fairs the Paris cabbies charge, we decided to walk.

Four long lines were waiting at each of the corner of the tower to "board" the elevators to take us to the top.

Bill and I was busy talking when the elevator neared the first level (or four). As a lull in the conversation came, I inadvertently glanced but of the open elevator car and my gaze instantly took in the great height we were at.

And, I promptly got sick as my tummy churned.

I gave Bill my camera as he helped me off of the elevator car and led me to a cabaret-type chair where he ordered me a glass of cognac.

He continued on to the top and photographed the beautiful city of Paris. When he returned to my lower level, we decided that the only thing I could do, short of putting on a blindfold, was simply to enter the elevator car with my eyes closed tightly.

Which I did. Pretty place, Paris.

Boxing Action Mendoza wins glove decision

RIVERVIEW — Danny Mendoza, in his first fight in nearly a year, scored a unanimous decision over Twin Cities' Boxing Club's Steve Cook Friday here Friday night.

Mendoza, 24, a Granite Cityan now boxing for the North County Boxing Club, utilized a series of jabs and numerous body punches to score the three-round decision over Cook in their 165-pound open class bout at 71 Sportsmen's Club.

"Danny looked real good," admitted Merce Mendoza, Mendoza's former coach. "I've got to say that I was impressed with his bout considering the lay-off that he's had. He looked pretty tough."

The bout was a tune-up for Mendoza who is seeking his third Golden Gloves championship. Weight-ins for the annual boxing extravaganza were yesterday at the 12th and Park Recreation Center in St. Louis.

Preliminary and first-round competition is slated for Feb. 27 and 28 at the North County Recreation Complex with the finals ultimately scheduled for March 16 at Kiel Auditorium.

Top Archer Zedolek becomes a pro

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER

It was a crisp and clear October morning in 1976 when a young boy on a bicycle peddled up to Larry and Phyllis Lane's home in the 3200 block of Wayne.

Blowing with the leaves up to the Lane's yard were onlookers, curious onlookers. They'd come to see the three-point buck that Mrs. Lane, an avid archer, had taken with a bow and arrow.

The boy, 13 years old, mixed inconspicuously with the group of onlookers. He'd been hunting before with his father, but never deer hunting. He was intrigued with the thought of hunting with a bow. There was something almost reverent about hunting with a bow and arrow. To take an animal, a deer, this way was truly sport, he thought.

The gutted deer was left to hang. The Lanes went inside, the crowd dispersed and the boy peddled home. He just lived on Aubrey, the next block over.

As he peddled his bicycle home the boy thought about his bow, the one he'd received for Christmas the year before. He thought about becoming good enough to one day be able to do the same. To become proficient enough with a bow and arrow to hunt deer or hit a bull's eye at 40 yards.

That was a day that Tony Zedolek remembers vividly. That may have been the day that he decided to become a professional archer.

Zedolek, now 22 and the son of Tony and Loretta Zedolek of 3148 Aubrey, became a professional archer on Jan. 1, 1985. He received the paperwork from the Illinois State Professional Archers' Association making it official.

But that's not all there is to Zedolek's story. Then there is Phyllis and Larry Lane, the people who Zedolek watched with the deer nine years ago, are his professional sponsors. They're also the owners of the Lane's Archery located at 1837 Delmar.

"We didn't realize that Tony was one of those people who really was a day," Mrs. Lane said of that day nine years ago. "We never talked or anything. We wouldn't have known that Tony was there if he'd not mentioned it."

Zedolek kept the story to himself for several years before telling the Lanes about it. They really wanted any need to explain it. Not until recently, anyway.

Zedolek's and the Lanes' paths crossed again later, some time later. But, like the first time, they didn't exchange words.

"We used to see Tony down at the old St. Louis International Archery (located by St. Louis International Raceway which is now Stages Nightclub). I used to work down there and I'd see Tony and a lot of other people who come here now," Mrs. Lane said Friday from behind the counter of her pro shop.

"He was just one of the many regular people who'd come in to a shop," she said of her time spent at St. Louis International.

Then, about five years ago, St. Louis International Archery closed its doors. It was just about that time that the Lanes opened their own archery lanes and pro shop on State Street. They were looking to fill the void left by St. Louis International's closing.

It was at that time that Zedolek began frequenting their shop and that they and their friendship grew.

"He (Zedolek) came in to shoot and he was good," Mrs. Lane said. "He was good, but he didn't necessarily know why he was good. I guess what I'm saying is that he has an awful lot of natural ability for archery."

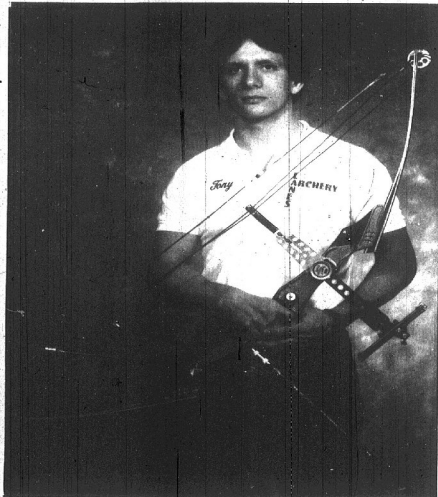

With the Lanes' help, Zedolek became even better and in 1983 other people began noticing his archery ability. It was that year, in Rood house, Ill., that Zedolek won the Illinois State Target Championship.

Then, in 1984, the trophies began to pile up. He won the Indoor State Archery Championship, the International Archers' Association Championship and the Irwin Godfrey Award, a special award for Illinois' top archer.

The list continued as he won the 1984 Mike's Pro-Am, setting a national scoring record. And, then the one which was his major confidence builder and the one which more than any convinced him he should turn professional, he won the Great Lakes Sectional Championship, held in Chatham, Ill. Zedolek bested entrants from Illinois and four surrounding states to clinch that title.

I guess that did more to convince me that it was time to turn professional," Zedolek said Sunday. "But turning pro is like starting over. Before when I'd lose people wouldn't say anything. Now that I'm pro, if I lose they're gonna be talking."

But Zedolek doesn't plan on losing too many, but despite turning pro he knows that there will be times when he doesn't win. He knows it and so do the Lanes.

"Tony's a fine archer for this area, the Midwest, but when you start talking the whole nation, there are guys out there who are better," Mrs. Lane said.

"Don't get me wrong. Tony's good enough now to be shooting for (a brand name) right now, but he doesn't want to. He wants to shoot PSE (Precision Shooting Equipment). That's what he likes and that's what he's good at. And that's fine with us. We don't demand that he shoot any one brand over the other," Mrs. Lane said.

"What do we get out of it?" she said.

"Nothing more than helping Tony. We pay his entry (tournament) fees and supply him with his bow, arrows and equipment. If he wins a tournament that's great. It's good advertising for us if our archer wins a tourney, but other than that we just enjoy it."

GCHS girl to attend Peru State

Michelle Morgan, a 5-foot 6-inch senior at Granite City High School, has signed a letter of intent to attend Peru State College this fall.

A native of Granite City, she will participate in volleyball and softball while attending Peru State. She was a four-year starter and a letter-winner as a setter for the Warriors. She earned All-Metro first team honors on the east side while simultaneously being selected the second team of the Southwestern Conference.

The daughter of Bob and Flo Morgan, she plans to major in elementary education and child psychology.

Gardner has coached often against Schmitt in his 22 years at Southeast. In fact, one of Gardner's teams cut a string of 17 consecutive Granite City Sectional titles with a victory in the early 1970's.

The leather-lunged voice of Gardner could be heard throughout the gymnasium as he encouraged his wrestlers. He only had soft words for the Warriors and their high place of prominence in the 35 storied years Schmitt has coached them.

"They've never had a bad wrestler," Gardner said.

"It's not over yet, either. 'I've still got one week left,' Schmitt said.

could be tracked to a battle with a two-day old case of bronchitis. Knog had taken antibiotics to knock it out.

In the process, it knocked him out.

"It (the medication) leaves me with about one good match. That's about it," Knog said.

Knog had missed much of the season with a dislocated elbow. He discounted the missed time as being a factor in his conditioning.

"Mainly that Lindsay is a good wrestler," said Knog, a senior, who boasts a 15-3 record (10-3 since returning to the lineup).

Lindsay is a good wrestler. He qualified for state play last year.

Of all the qualifiers, Wilson's journey to third place in the Sectional and a berth in the state tournament was the longest.

Wilson, a sophomore, lost his first bout, 7-1 to East St. Louis' Lee Garth.

THE ONLY way Wilson could remain in the tournament was if Garth continued to win. He did. In fact, Garth won the title.

Wilson kept winning, too. He wrestled three times to earn a shot

Views differ on proposed county financial transfer

By JIM WOODCOCK

The Madison County Board finance committee has indicated the board may be in for a long debate over whether to transfer tax departments should receive financial help this year with general fund money.

The committee passed a resolution urging the county board to approve transferring a surplus of about $80,000 in the general fund to four departments that need the money for salaries.

Only three of the finance committee's five members were present when the committee passed the resolution by a 2-1 vote. The two members who were absent, Fred Dalton of Collinsville and Don McLean of Edwardsville, attended a later meeting.

Dalton and McLean said they did not like the idea of using general fund money for special departments. Committee member Alan Dunstan, Troy, voted against the idea.

Although a majority on the committee is against the idea of using general money for special departments, a resolution to transfer will be introduced by the committee.

Departments listed in the resolution are the supervisor of assessments office, property records, detention home and museum. The tax rate of each at the maximum level.

Director of Administration Mary Kane said a surplus in the general fund from personnel money, would be shared by the four departments if the resolution is passed by the board.

She said the four departments don't have funds to meet the county's new contract obligations with its largest employee union, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Local 796.

Dunstan will prepare a speech urging his colleagues to vote against subsidizing the department.

"We're in negotiations with the Teamsters (Local 525) now," Dunstan said. "Are we going to subsidize them with general fund money? No."

Dalton conceded that the resolution should stand because it was voted on by a quorum in his and McLean's absence.

"It's kind of an unwritten law among board members to wait until there's a full committee to vote on these types of things," Dalton said. "I can't, though, look to nullify what was done."

Dunstan and Dalton said if the board passes the resolution, the county should at least wait until the end of the fiscal year approaches (Nov. 30) before giving those departments the money.

"Make them show good management through the year," Dunstan said. "Give them the benefit of the doubt that they can be good managers with the money."

Dalton noted that voters approve the maximum tax rates in special tax departments. He said those departments should operate with only the money the rate generates, adding.

"Contrary to what the public said we should do way back when, we're just going to give these departments this money up front? That's not good management, not good government, and that's not being frugal."

Committee Chairman Bill Little, Alton, says the money will ensure that the assessment office will keep the tax cycle on schedule.

Dalton suggested that the Board of Review, which recently finished hearings, could help the supervisor of assessments, if needed.

Mary Kane said that would violate proper procedure because both offices operate on separate budgets.

"Special tax departments and the general fund are supposed to be separate, too," Dalton responded.

The county board will act on the matter Wednesday.

Seminar to help women 'market' themselves

A seminar geared to helping women "market" themselves will be conducted Saturday, March 2, at the Hilton Inn in Collinsville.

The event, designed specifically for women who are searching for jobs or who are currently employed and would like to make a career change, is being sponsored by the State Bank of Collinsville, Mid-America Bank and Trust Co. of Illinois and Marshall D. Bush of R. Rowland and Co. Inc.

The seminar, which will cost $40, will run from 8:30 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. During the luncheon, a Casual Corners regional representative from Chesterfield, Mo., will present a fashion show entitled, "Dressing for Success."

All of the workshops will be conducted by women who are professionals in their fields.

"It's the Resume that Counts" will be conducted by Mary Stiel of the St. Louis Metropolitan Re-Employment Project. She will provide information on resume writing and demonstrate interview situations.

"How to Survive Your Interview," a discussion on the importance of body language, will be conducted by Pat Brian, director of special services and Every Woman's Center at Belleville Area College.

The professional look in make-up will be demonstrated by Julie Ash whose products are sold by Stix, Baer and Fuller in Fairview Heights. She is a representative of Lancome Cosmetics.

The "dos and don'ts" of hair design will be covered by Vancel of Vancel's Hair Designs, St. Louis. She was one of the hair stylists selected for the Miss U.S.A. competition in St. Louis.

Reservations will be accepted no later than Feb. 22. More information is available from Foresee Inc. at 1-624-5230.

Tax tips

The choosing of a preparer by taxpayers to do their federal income tax returns should be done carefully and wisely.

Most tax return preparers are honest and do not deliberately attempt to defraud either their clients or the IRS. However, a few misuse the responsibility of preparing a tax return for someone else, and the IRS offers some suggestions on how to identify those preparers.

Do not sign a blank return, or one which is partially complete. These returns could be altered by the preparer. Tax return preparers are required by law to sign and date the return and to enter his or her identification number. You must be furnished a copy of the completed return.

Preparers who promise a refund, claim a special relationship with the IRS, or boast of ways to beat the tax system should be avoided.

The choosing of a preparer is particularly important because you, not the preparer, are responsible for the accuracy of your tax return. As much care should go into the choosing of a tax preparer as the selection of any attorney, doctor, or any professional service.

POT HOLES

Potholes, potholes everywhere
And barely a flat place in sight.
You ruin your tires, spare after spare,
And still there are more holes to fight.

They reach out to grab you.
The suck you right in.
They jar you, they shake you,
They send you in a spin.

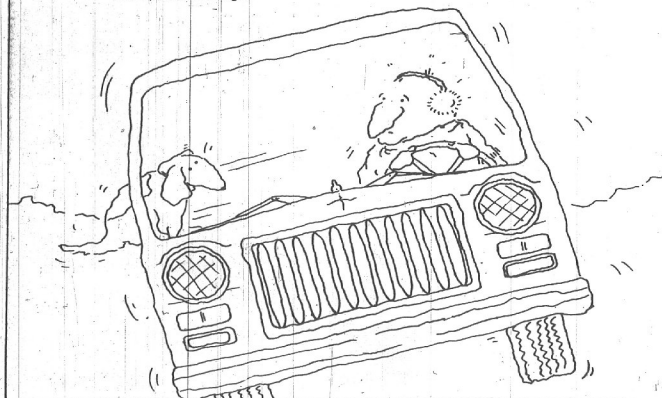

You know some holes so well
That you've given them names
And often you tell
Of the depth of their fame.

Of "Grabber" and "Snatcher"
And "Bottomless Pit"
And then there's "Grand Canyon"
Who you'll never forget.

Now go tell those potholes
You're getting out of this rut
And you'll reach this new goal
Just by riding the bus!

E. A. KARANDJEFF
Chairman
Central Bank of Granite City

Q: We will be moving to another state in a short time, after many years of residence at our present home. I know that my credit record will follow me, but I would like to ask if it is proper or appropriate for me to ask some of my current lenders for something like a letter of reference — much as one would ask for a reference from an employer. I'm thinking that this might help establish our credit in our new state and city.

A: There is absolutely nothing wrong with this practice. It is entirely proper and appropriate. Whenever you pay off a loan, request a letter of satisfaction from that lender. In this way, the next time you apply for a loan, or for credit, even if it's years later, you'll have concrete evidence that you are a good credit risk. Of course, you're best credit reference is the record you maintain with your local credit bureau, which should also be transferred to your new location. However, in some instances, the letters you mention are of benefit.

Church Activities

Lenten Services at three churches

St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, Central Christian Church and St. John United Church of Christ will combine for special mid-week Lenten services again this year. The congregations began this cooperative venture in 1983.

Services will be held each Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, beginning on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 20th. The Ash Wednesday service will include the celebration of the Sacrament of Holy Communion.

The theme of the series will be "A Cross - Study of Hands." Offerings will be divided between Hospice and Protestant Welfare as a special mission thrust in our community.

Schedule of services is: Feb. 20, at St. John UCC, "Hands: The Perfect Portraits," Feb. 27, at St. John UCC, "Innocent Hands," March 6, at Central Christian, "Folded Hands," March 13, at Central Christian, "The Accusing Finger," March 20, at St. Peter UCC, "Helping Hands," and March 27 at St. Peter UCC, "Nailed Hands."

Each service will be followed by a fellowship hour, and the public is invited to attend, according to the pastors of each church.

Concordia Lutheran Lenten Services

Lenten Services at Concordia Lutheran Church, 2305 Grand Ave., will begin on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 20th, at 7:30 p.m. according to Pastor David W. Ratz. This year on the Wednesdays in Lent his series of sermons will be preached under the theme "Trivia or Truth."

The trivia type questions to be looked at on Ash Wednesday will deal with Jesus in the Upper Room where he celebrated the Passover with his disciples and later instituted the Lord's Supper. The following are some of the questions:

What four adjectives describe the room where Jesus and the disciples were to celebrate the Passover? What two disciples were sent to prepare the Passover? What was the subject of the disciples' argument at supper? What did Peter want Jesus to wash, besides his feet? How did Jesus say people will know His disciples?

The pastor and members of Concordia invite the people of the community to "play" the "game" of "Trivia or Truth" which will help to learn truths which are anything but trivial. Refreshments will follow the service, the pastor added.

Quad-City Presbyterian Lenten worship services

The Quad-City cluster of Presbyterian Churches have planned Lenten worship services to take place at the various churches during the pre-Easter season.

Ash Wednesday communion service is set for Feb. 20, to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall of First Presbyterian Church, 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue. The service is to be conducted in the hall instead of the sanctuary since the first observance was in the basement because the church was not completely constructed at the time. The Rev. Richard Hunt announces.

Nameoki Presbyterian sets Lenten services

"Lent offers the Christian a fresh beginning in the pilgrimage of the Christian faith," remarked Pastor Don Pierson of the Nameoki Presbyterian Church. With this in mind, the Sunday morning worship service will feature a series of messages entitled, "People Who Met at Calvary." The services begin at 10:15 a.m.

The annual Wednesday evening church family fellowship supper will be looking at "The History of the Church: From Pentecost to the Reformation." These will alternate with salads and soups furnished by groups within the congregation. Rev. Pierson explained. Family worship and singing will also mark this series which begins on Ash Wednesday with the Service of Communion. The church family fellowship suppers will begin at 6:16 p.m.

New member seminars will begin Tuesday, Feb. 19th, at 7 p.m. "This is an opportunity for interested persons to take a new look at the Christian faith and the history of the Church from an adult point of view," Pastor Pierson added.

Bible Studies on Thursday evenings will also be available as well as the Bible Study offered Sunday mornings at the 9 a.m. coffee hour, led by Pastor Pierson.

The congregation will again be responding to world-wide needs of hunger and disaster emergency relief needs. A "Love Load" will be distributed to each family on Sunday, Feb. 24th, to be placed on the dinner table to remind those at the table that there are people who are in need throughout the world. They will be collected the Sunday after Easter.

News notes

State Treasurer James H. Donnewald announced last week that beginning March 1, he will have $100 million deposits available for rural area banks who will provide lower-than-market loans to farmers. "Our Agricultural Production Loan Deposit Program in its five years of existence has a proven record of relief," Donnewald said. "Last year we were able to inject $26 million deposits placed in 133 banks that are cooperating in this program."

Illinois traffic fatalities resumed a downward trend during January after ending 1984 with an overall increase of less than one percent. In January there were 70 fatalities recorded as a result of 63 accidents, according to provisional reports related by the Illinois Department of Transportation and Illinois State Police. This is a decrease of 24.7 percent from the 93 provisional deaths in January 1984.

Illinois Comptroller Roland W. Burris reported last week the balance in the state's General Funds at the end of January was $480 million, the highest end-of-month balance in nearly five years. Burris said January marked the fourteenth consecutive month above the $200 million fiscal "warning zone" level, indicative of a strong cash flow position. However, the Comptroller noted that forecasts by the state for the remainder of the fiscal year do not point to a continued high balance as expenditures are predicted to be $263 million higher than revenues.

The Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) will be participating in the 19th annual International Travel Exchange in Berlin, Germany on March 2 to 8. "Every year thousands of international travelers visit Illinois, and we want to increase everyone's awareness of the Prairie State and all it offers," said DCCA Director Michael T. Woelfler.

Governor Thompson and University of Illinois President Stanley O. Ikenberry announced last week that the U of I's Center for Supercomputing Research and Development has received $10 million in federal, state and foundation grants to build the world's fastest computer.

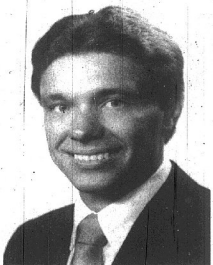

Lieutenant Governor George H. Ryan, chairman of the Abandoned Mined Lands Reclamation Council, has announced that the federal Office of Surface Mining has awarded Illinois more than $14 million in an annual grant for reclamation of 34 abandoned mines around the state. Work at the sites is necessary in order to alleviate safety and environmental problems.

Small businesses and not-for-profit organizations have a new source of state financial assistance for expanding their operations through the Pooled Bond Program. "This program is administered by the Illinois Development Finance Authority. It is specifically targeted at small borrowers who have found tax-exempt bonds uneconomical because of the relatively high issuance costs involved," said Department of Commerce and Community Affairs Director Michael T. Woelfler.

Possible changes in the firearm deer permit system have been shelved through 1985 to allow an in-depth examination of the issues and determine public opinion, according to Department of Conservation Director Michael Witte.

Serving alcohol to guests who are minors is a crime

Public Act 83-834, "Intoxicating Liquors - Consumption by Minors" (SB 437) was amended in September 1983 to include a "parental responsibility" section. The new bill went into effect July 1, 1984.

In essence, the amended bill makes it a petty offense for parents (or other residence occupants) to knowingly permit two or more persons under the age of 18 to drink alcoholic beverages in the resident's home and leave in an intoxicated state.

Jean Schram, prevention coordinator of Plasa Health Care, says this amendment was supported by parents' groups throughout the state as a prevention strategy. It is hoped that it will increase parents' awareness of their responsibility and give them an excuse to forbid teenage drinking parties in their home.

Joe Cirolamo, president of the Metro-East Juvenile Officers' Association, said that he hoped this amendment would cut down on the alcohol involvement of the younger teenagers.

This amendment was supported by the Illinois Drug Education Alliance (IDEA) and other parent groups throughout the state as a

They are ineligible if they have unpaid obligations at the university or if they are past due on their student loans, Mrs. Thompson said.

from several products, which had the best characteristics for use in the restoration process." Investigation with liquid latex had provided some success.

EVEN THOUGH it enabled the unit to mount a travel exhibition, "Louis H. Sullivan: Union with Nature," which was funded in part by the Illinois Arts Council and will tour for two years, the latex process involved some complicated problems, Mason said.

"If the latex mold did not self-destruct from contamination," Mason noted, "it stretched, separated and tore during removal of the reproduction. It took long hours to produce the mold, and this finally became very discouraging."

University Museums began to experiment with Dow Corning materials, and according to Mason, "the Silastic HS RTV proved to be a tremendously exciting solution to all the problems encountered with liquid latex. High tech industrial material could come to the rescue of precious traditional art."

COST WAS A SERIOUS obstacle, however. "At a retail value of $200.75 per 462-pound drum, it was evident that the university did not have the money to purchase the quantities needed," Mason explained.

So a decision was made to inform Dow Corning of the restoration work and to solicit their support. "This request was received with enthusiasm," Mason said. "The Dow Corning Corporation considers this to be a unique approach to their products."

THE RTV is scheduled to arrive from Dow Corning facilities in Belgium in April. "Silastic HS RTV has a shelf-life of six months, so preparations are currently being made at the Museum's facilities for the arrival and immediate use of the material," Mason said.

HE ADDED: "Because of the severe budget cuts for federal grant agencies, the competition for grant funds is more intense now than ever before. Many important and worthwhile projects will suffer, and it is only through the good graces of the private sector and corporate support that this important work will continue."

"The commitment of Dow Corning to aid in the efforts with this collection help to ensure the preservation of this cultural and historical legacy and a resource for future generations. In this light, the donation of these materials is of inestimable importance."

Due to maintenance schedule deadlines and customer needs for aircraft, Midcoast Aviation Inc. recently called upon Belleville Area College's Aviation Maintenance Technology staff and students to share in an exchange of resources.

The aircraft class donated approximately 400 man-hours to Midcoast. In exchange, the students gained the experience of working in a professional maintenance facility.

THE STUDENTS worked at Midcoast's facility at the St. Louis Downtown Airport in Cahokia. A large number of Midcoast's mechanics, leadmen, inspectors and supervisors are BAC graduates.

The students who worked at Midcoast found the environment of BAC a familiar one. They felt at ease and were encouraged to ask questions. Students also benefited from the direction of experienced, well-trained technicians who inspected the work to ensure compliance with Midcoast standards.

During the week of four-hour work periods, the students spent the majority of their time preparing aircraft for painting, including observing the removal and installation of components and fluid controls, learning to chemically treat aircraft skins, and doing other tasks necessary to refinish aircraft.

THE STUDENTS also saw flight controls balanced, the manufacture and installation of custom aircraft interiors and aviation electronics.

The experience was valuable for all the students and for some it led to part-time employment. Midcoast hired a sizeable number of them on a part-time basis to help meet schedule needs.

Music therapist to discuss her work at Feb. 20 BPW meeting

It has often been said of mental ill or chemically dependent people that they "march to the beat of a different drummer." That phrase may trivialize the extent of the person's problem, but ironically it suggests one method of therapy. Music therapy is gaining acceptance in the mental health field, and Juliann Priest, registered music therapist at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, is happy to see the field growing.

Miss Priest will speak about her profession at the February dinner meeting of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Organization on Wednesday, Feb. 20, at Charlie's Restaurant. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. and Miss Priest will speak at 7 p.m.

Miss Priest is a native of Muncie, Ind. She graduated from the University of Evansville in Evansville, Ind., with a bachelor's degree of music in music therapy. After completing her degree and serving in an internship in a state psychiatric facility in Nashville, Tenn., she became a registered music therapist. She joined SEMC in September of 1981.

The first question that most people ask Miss Priest is, "What is music therapy?" She said, "A lot of people have the idea that music therapy is simply listening to music. It's a lot more than that. Music therapy can be defined as using music as a tool to obtain appropriate changes in behavior."

Miss Priest uses a variety of methods to help patients from the Keller Center and from Talbot Hall Chemical Dependency Unit. She may simply engage them in conversation about various musical instruments or increase their socialization skills. She may teach them to play a few chords on the guitar or piano, allowing them to play many different songs. Or she may lead a discussion group in analyzing the lyrics of a popular song.

"The biggest thing about music therapy is that it provides a completely non-threatening environment," Miss Priest said. "I don't think I know of one person in the whole world who doesn't like music at some point. It's a common bond because everybody enjoys it."

Miss Priest admitted that it can be difficult to teach an adult how to play an instrument, especially one who is emotionally disturbed. "So many of them have been shut down time and time again," she said. "They see themselves as failures. So they come in with the attitude that they can't do it. However, I'm frequently amazed by how well they can pick it up."

Music therapy is not only being used in the setting of mental health hospital. It is used in public school systems, correctional institutions, nursing homes and in general hospital settings, according to Miss Priest, admission to the field is becoming more stringent and standardized through the efforts of the National Association of Music Therapy, its governing body.

Miss Priest emphasized the degree of work required to take all the classes of a music major, as well as the bulk of the psychology and sociology curricula. In addition, students have to practice long hours to become proficient on a wide variety of instruments while finding time to do practicum studies each quarter. "It's not a real easy field to get through," she said.

A person interested in becoming a music therapist should first and foremost be a musician, according to Miss Priest. True to her own advice, Miss Priest is an accomplished flutist, having won many competitions and having studied with Jean-Pierre Rampal, internationally acclaimed master of the flute.

Miss Priest said she hopes to get NAMT approval this fall to set up a music therapy internship site at SEMC. "That would be good for SEMC," she said.

Although Miss Priest may only see each patient a few times, she hopes she can contribute to their recovery. "If I can interest them in an instrument, maybe when they're back out they can take it on themselves to take lessons or join a musical group," she said. "If I can at least interest them, it's a step on the way. The greatest pleasure is seeing them have a sense of accomplishment."

Those interested in attending the BPW dinner and hearing Miss Priest speak should contact Mrs. Pauline Weir at 452-7529 for reservations.

MUSIC SOOTHES. Juliann Priest, registered music therapist at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, will discuss her occupation during the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club meeting Wednesday night.

Private Industry Council makes appointments

John Fruit, chairman of the Madison County Private Industry Council, has announced the council's committee appointments.

Fruit said these appointments will increase the Private Industry Council's ability to perform its function of directing the federally funded Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) program in our two counties. He said the primary purpose of the JTPA program is to assist the economically disadvantaged in finding employment and, in so doing, to become contributing members in their communities. The program offers tuition-paid vocational training and re-training in a variety of fields, on-the-job training in cooperation with area businesses, youth programs for our young people, Job Clubs which assist already qualified persons in job search techniques, and a job placement service to further assist them upon completion of the foregoing services, if necessary.

Fruit pointed out that the committee members of the Private Industry Council volunteer their time and services and represent business, education, labor and other segments of our area. As such, they contribute a wide range of knowledge and input concerning the direction necessary to a successful program.

The committee appointments made are:

Training Committee — which is responsible for reviewing specific training program proposals developed by the Madison County Employment and Training Department (ETD's operating arm) and area institutions — Robert Maxwell, personnel training director for Granite City Steel; Willie Walker, executive director of the Madison County Urban League; Lucille Layne, director of the Alton YWCA, and Don Adams, owner of Granite City Glass Co.

Private Sector Development Committee — which acts as liaison between JTPA and private employers to determine employer needs — Paul Lott, personnel manager for Shell Oil Company; Myra Mandorcia, president of Airport National Bank; Bethalto; Robert Weiss, business manager for Bricklayer's Local 65; Michael Kilgore, vice president of Greenville Spring Company.

Youth Committee — which develops and oversees services provided to the youth (and constitutes more than 40 percent of JTPA funding). Harold Briggs, Madison County superintendent of education; Frank Kraus, superintendent of the Granite City Schools; Paula Redman, personnel director of E-Line Systems, Highland; Robert Hillgoss, chief operations officer of River Belt, Inc., Alton, and Ted Billerman, president of St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City.

Performance Review Committee — which serves to monitor and evaluate the entire JTPA program in Madison and Bond counties — Esther Eberhart, Office Manager, R & W Heating and Cooling, Wood River; Dr. Emil Jason, associate vice president of SIUE; John Price, manager of Syn-Tech Systems, Greenville; William Sandor, office manager of the East St. Louis Job Service; James Hankins, business agent for IBEW Local 309, and William Kemp, trustee of the Alton-Wood River Federation of Labor.

Executive Committee — which guides the Council's deliberations and committee's efforts — Chairman Herb Roach, vice president of Basler Electric, Highland, and Secretary-Treasurer Dean Turner, secretary-treasurer of the Builders Trade Council.

Outdated information was recently mailed to science and engineering students attending colleges in Missouri and Illinois according to the Missouri State Department of Education, Chief of the Officer Training School Recruiting Branch, here.

"We're especially concerned about students who are listed in this piece of outdated literature," said Captain Hanson.

PAY FOR AIR FORCE officers has increased substantially in recent years, said Captain Hanson, "and is enhanced by tax advantages and an outstanding benefit package. Starting salary for a new second lieutenant is more than $18,000, and after four years, assuming normal advancement, that pay will exceed $30,000. Both of these figures are minimums and may be greater depending on your marital status and your area's average cost of living."

"However," said the captain, "because of the excellent salary outstanding benefits, and extraordinary responsibility and challenge available to our junior officers, competition for the few remaining slots is extremely keen, and most of these slots require degrees in engineering or other technical disciplines."

For further information, students may contact Captain Hanson at 1-313-263-4277 or their nearest Air Force recruiter.

ALLEGED GUN DAMAGES AUTO

Franklin D. Hays, 21, of 2328 W. 23rd St., was charged with criminal damage to an auto at 3 p.m. Friday, following an incident on the Olympic Service Station lot, 20th and Adams streets.

Police went to that location where Larry Kampmann of Granite City reported having an argument with Hays.

Hays allegedly then took a bumper jack from Kampmann's auto and struck the 1974 Cutlass sedan with the jack, damaging the hood, roof, a door and taillights. Hays was released from custody after posting $102 cash bail.

News Notes

The Madison County supervisor of assessments' office is exploring the possibility of publishing all property reassessments in one newspaper rather than in different newspapers throughout the county. Debbie Ming, chief deputy in the office, told the county's special tax cycle committee last week that Supervisor of Assessments Robert Harris believes publishing the assessments in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat or Post-Dispatch would meet the legal requirements and save the county money. The county spent $80,000 in publishing assessment lists last year.

Metal detectors outside Madison County courthouses may be among the recommendations of the county's judiciary committee, which is studying security, particularly in courthouses where divorce and custody cases are heard. Chief Circuit Judge A.A. Matosian of Granite City said security is becoming a concern in courthouses throughout the state ever since a judge and lawyer were shot by a litigant after a hearing in Chicago several years ago. Judges in criminal cases are safer, since there are deputies with the defendant, but judges hearing family disputes are vulnerable, Matosian said.

In a special address to the General Assembly Wednesday, Feb. 27, Governor James R. Thompson is expected to propose an increase in the state tax on cigarettes as a source of more money for elementary and secondary education. He also is expected to recommend a spending increase of more than $300 million for public schools. One goal is for the state to pay half the cost of operating elementary and secondary schools — it now pays only about 40 percent.

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler has been appointed treasurer of the county's Transit District board, replacing Robert Sille.

13-year prison sentence in bombing of union hall

William J. Politte, 41, of Granite City, who pleaded guilty last month to bombing the Operating Engineers Local 520 building in Granite City with a hand grenade, was sentenced Thursday to serve 13 years in prison.

Politte was sentenced by U.S. District Court Judge James L. Foreman in East St. Louis Thursday. That sentence included 10 years for the bombing and three years for filing a false stolen car report. He also was placed on five years of probation.

Politte was a member of St. Louis Operating Engineers Local 513, which was involved in a dispute with Local 520 over jobs on the Alton Lock and Dam project last spring, when the bombing occurred.

Politte also pleaded guilty to conspiracy and mail fraud for allegedly attempting to defraud an insurance company by falsely reporting his wife's car had been stolen. Judge

Foreman ordered him to pay $7,563 in restitution to the union hall and $5,923 for the car theft fraud.

A co-defendant in the case, Marcel P. Tarris, 42, of Bethalto, was sentenced to serve three years in prison on a charge of unlawful transfer of a hand grenade. He also was placed on five years of probation.

BURGLAR GETS VIDEO RECORDER, JEWELRY

In a burglary at the home of Beverly Partney, 2601 Edison Ave., reported at 2:36 p.m. Saturday, the intruder stole a microwave oven, a video recorder and a 13-inch color television.

Also missing from the residence were a portable television and AM-FM radio and a tray of assorted jewelry, including gold chains. Doors to the garage and house were forced to gain entry into the dwelling, reports said.

Politte also pleaded guilty to conspiracy and mail fraud for allegedly attempting to defraud an insurance company by falsely reporting his wife's car had been stolen. Judge

Foreman ordered him to pay $7,563 in restitution to the union hall and $5,923 for the car theft fraud.

MS Society seeking volunteers

Volunteers are urgently needed by the Multiple Sclerosis Society, 915 Olive St., St. Louis, Missouri 63101. Responsibilities include clerical and office duties, as well as, working with MS patients through the "Friendly Visitor Program" and toll-free helpline, a spokesman said.

Multiple Sclerosis is a neurological disease—a disabling affliction of the brain and spinal cord—for which there is as yet no cure. In MS, the substance known as myelin, a tissue which insulates the nerve fibers, disintegrates. It is replaced by scar tissue, thus blocking or distorting nerve impulses which control such functions as walking, talking, vision and other bodily functions.

MS is neither a mental disease, nor is it contagious. However, approximately 500,000 Americans suffer from MS and related diseases. Victims are usually between the ages of 15 and 50, and their numbers are growing. Recent government figures show that 200 people a week are diagnosed as having Multiple Sclerosis.

Those who have MS usually display some or all of these symptoms: partial or complete paralysis of parts of the body; double or otherwise defective vision, such as involuntary movements of eyeballs; Noticeable dragging of one or both feet; speech difficulties, such as slurring, staggering or loss of balance (MS people erroneously are thought to be intoxicated); extreme weakness or fatigue; prickling sensation in parts of the body; loss of coordination and tremors of hands.

Multiple Sclerosis is usually progressive, causing the person with MS to suffer a series of unexpected attacks which may cause further disability, even paralysis. Sometimes, one may only display itself through minor or fleeting symptoms, which are infrequent.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Let's assume that a neighbor child is injured when playing a game with your child at your home. Are you liable for failing to properly warn the children about the dangers of the game or for failing to adequately supervise the game? Whether the law will impose a duty on a landowner for injuries to a child depends upon how dangerous the game is and how much of a burden it will be on the parents to supervise the activity.

In a 1980 case, a fourteen year old boy was injured when playing floor hockey with several children at a neighbor's home. While acting as a goalie, a plastic puck struck the teenager in the eye. He filed a lawsuit against the boy who hit the puck and against the parents who owned the home where the accident occurred. The injured party alleged that the parents were negligent in allowing neighborhood children to play floor hockey on their property without protective equipment and in allowing the game to take place without proper warning of the dangers of the game.

The Court here refused to allow the injured boy to recover from the landowners. One reason was because the likelihood of injury was small. It was noted that the only equipment used here was a plastic whiffle ball bat, hockey sticks and a plastic puck, and these toys are not considered dangerous.

The Court also felt that to impose such a legal obligation on parents would require constant surveillance of children's activities. As a policy matter, the Appellate Court feared that parents would be reluctant to allow other children to play on their property if they feared legal liability in a situation such as this.

Two additional factors were also considered by the Court in this particular case. First of all, the injured fourteen year old was a young man who had extensive sports experience. The Court felt that a boy of this age and experience knows the risks of a game such as floor hockey. Secondly, the injured boy's parents were aware that he played floor hockey on numerous occasions prior to the accident. Neither his mother nor father ever told him not to play the game, told him to use protective equipment. The Court refused to impose a duty on the neighbors to warn of dangers when the parents never provided warnings themselves.
